CAL OPPOSED TO LOWERING TARIFF WALL

Believes Economic Laws Will Enable U. S. to Buy More from Europe

PRESIDENT IS SILENT

Adherence to Protective Tariff Principle Accepted as His Attitude

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1926, By Post-Pub. Co.

Paul Smith, N. Y.—Although official announcements indicate President Coolidge's desire not to be pinned down specifically to one solution as against another in the adjustment of world trade conditions so that Europe may pay her debts to America, it is nevertheless a fact that at last the absolute need of increasing foreign markets by European debtors is recognized.

Mr. Coolidge never discusses the tariff wall, nor does he lean toward trade agreements of a reciprocal character, but he is kept constantly advised by the Department of Commerce of the growing size of European sales in America.

For some time outside observers, particularly abroad, have criticized the American position as illogical because on the one hand the United States insisted on payment of war debts with gold, and at the same time kept European countries by a tariff wall from penetrating to the American consumer with cheaply-made products. It was argued that the United States either must buy more of Europe or else consent to a slower payment of war debts.

FAVORS PROTECTIVE TARIFF
As between the two policies, namely tearing down the tariff wall and getting quicker payments from Europe or keeping it high and accepting long-term adjustments of foreign debts, President Coolidge has not publicly said a word, but his adherence to the protective tariff principle has been reiterated again and again as a sufficient answer. For Mr. Coolidge does not think the injury to American prosperity through a lowered tariff would be offset to any considerable extent by the payments on war debts.

In other words, he regards the tariff structure as an economic fact so important to American wealth that the payments from abroad which would be accelerated seem as if they were a drop in the bucket in comparison.

There is, on the other hand, a constant pressure to make the president see the wisdom of lowering the tariff wall to a certain extent so as to permit European goods to come into competition in some instances with American goods.

TINKERING DISCOURAGED
But Mr. Coolidge is urged by the defenders of the system not to permit any tinkering because it is argued that American working men are being sustained at a high level of wages because of the high prices which it is possible to charge the consumer and that any reduction in such prices forced by European competition would mean a deflation of labor costs.

The significant thing is that even though America is not touching the tariff wall, Europe is desperately overcoming some of the obstacles by devising cheaper methods of production and by the drop in wage standards abroad produced by the diminishing value of foreign currencies in terms of the American dollar.

YOUTHFUL SWIMMER IS DROWNED IN MISSISSIPPI
LaCrosse, Wis.—(AP)—The Mississippi River claimed its second victim this season here Tuesday when Stanley Jacques, aged 16, of this city, drowned while swimming with his brother. Guards from the public beach were summoned and Jacques' body recovered after he had been in the water 20 minutes but efforts at resuscitation were futile.

LENROOT READY TO TALK COURT WITH GOVERNOR

Madison—(AP)—Senator Irvine Lenroot accepted an invitation here Wednesday from the Richland-co Fair association to debate Governor Blaine on the world court on Aug. 18, the second day of the Richland-co fair.

SUSPECT DENIES CHICAGO MURDER

"Scarface" Capone Is Questioned Regarding Killing of McSwiggin

Chicago—(AP)—Alphonse "Scarface" Capone, chief of the underworld of the turbulent suburb of Cicero, sought since the machine gun assassination of Assistant State's Attorney McSwiggin and two other men, was brought into the federal building Wednesday by federal agents to whom he had surrendered.

Bondsman already were there to arrange for his release, but so was the Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker with a warrant charging Capone with the murder of McSwiggin. Capone has denied that he killed McSwiggin. He who formerly operated "vice" resorts and saloons in Chicago, Cicero, Stockton and even controlled the village of Forest View occupied chiefly by a half hundred of his followers who ran the village election, so that it became known as "Caponeville" surrendered at the Indiana-Illinois state line. He had been in Gary, Ind., agents Pat M. Roche and C. L. Converse of the special intelligence unit of the revenue bureau said.

KLAN LEADER'S BODY IS FOUND BY BOYS

Struthers, Ohio—Three boys, out on a "hunt for gold," instead found the body of Andrew Frankie, Ku Klux Klan organizer, who had been missing since October, 1924, when this section was openly divided by the organization.

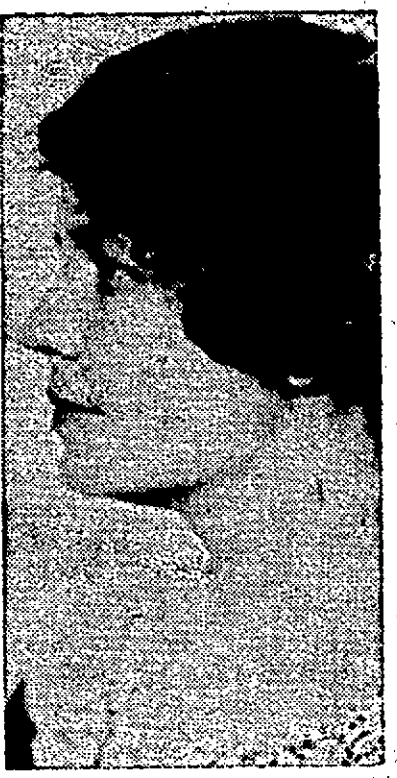

UNCOVER NEW LEAD IN SLAYING OF MELLETT

Pittsburgh, Pa.—(AP)—Detective Peter Connors, in charge of the Pittsburgh investigation of the slaying of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, went to New Kensington Wednesday to investigate what was termed an important lead in the efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the publisher's death. He was accompanied by several other detectives, among them Canton officers.

Joan Clark Eliminated In Women's State Golf Meet

Milwaukee—(AP)—Dorothy Page, Maple Bluff star of Madison, won her first match in the elimination round of the state women's golf association tournament at Tripoli country club Wednesday, defeating Mrs. Jack Blakeslee of Kenosha, 4 and 2.

SPEAKS HERE

Mrs. Dorothy Lenroot Black, daughter of Senator I. L. Lenroot, arrived in Appleton Wednesday noon to deliver at least two addresses in behalf of the candidacy of her father for Republican nomination for the senate. Her principal talk will be at 8 o'clock tonight in Soldiers' square. Mrs. Black is to talk from Soldiers' Monument. At 4:15 this afternoon she was to talk at the Tuttle Press.

LENROOT WAXES MERRY ON BLAINE

Delivers Address at Funeral Directors Convention at Superior

Superior—(AP)—Waxing humorous before the convention of the Wisconsin Embalmers and Funeral Directors association, Senator Irvine L. Lenroot Tuesday in an address said:

"There will be no political corruption in Superior Sept. 7."

The Senator again sounded his challenge to Governor Blaine, his opponent for his seat in the United States Senate, to meet him in debate. He characterized Blaine as engaged on a tour of wilful misrepresentation and misinterpretation.

Wednesday's session of the embalmers, the second one of the convention which closes Thursday afternoon with election of officers, found the embalmers listening to talks by A. T. Hansen, state president, and other members of the association.

9 CANDIDATES ARE SEEKING BLAINE TOGA

Few Contests Exist Outside of Republican Ranks, Records Show

Madison—(AP)—The first phase of Wisconsin's Biennial task of selecting its public officials was concluded at midnight Tuesday when the closing time for filing nominations found a large list in the hands of the Secretary of State.

The names will be placed on the ballot for the primary Sept. 7 providing acceptances of nominations are received in five days, declared George Brown of the elections department.

With nine aspirants among Republicans, Democrats, Socialists and Prohibitionists, the governorship is the most sought office. Four Republicans, three Prohibitionists and one Socialist and Democrat are running.

The candidates for governor are: Republicans, Herman L. Ekern, Madison; Charles B. Perry, Wauwatosa; W. Stanley Smith, Madison; and Fred R. Zimmerman, Milwaukee; Democrat, Virgil H. Cady, Baraboo; Prohibition, Adolph B. Buuckman, Novice; David Walden Emerson, Ashland; Alexander McEathern, Holcombe; Socialist, Herman O. Kent, Milwaukee.

Three aspirants for the Republican and two for the Prohibition nomination for United States Senator are in the field. Opposing John J. Blaine and Senator Irvine L. Lenroot for the nomination is Frank J. Kelly.

With these two exceptions on the prohibition ticket, there will be no contests outside the Republican ticket at the primaries for state offices and congress.

The hottest contests for Congress appear in the second and fifth districts. Five Republicans seek the nomination for the seat being vacated by Edward Voight. Several Republicans are running in the fifth district in Milwaukee for the seat of congressman Victor L. Berger, socialist.

JOYCE RELEASED FROM CHICAGO HOSPITAL

Chicago—(AP)—Joyce Hawley, who took the part of a horseless Lady Godiva at Earl Carroll's famous bath tub party last February, was released from the Chicago Psychopathic hospital early Tuesday.

Joyce has been held in the hospital since Sunday, when she took an overdose of sleeping tablets, but declared Tuesday that no such observation was necessary.

"I'm just as sane as anybody," she said. "Never was sick in my life before. What's the matter with me now? And I hate Chicago. New York is all right. I want to go back to old New York."

ARSON TRIAL OPENS IN MENOMINEE COURT

Menominee, Mich.—(AP)—Milton Williams, 25, a marine engineer testifying in the David E. Crawford arson trial in Menominee-co circuit court Wednesday, said he saw Crawford, who resides in Marinette, Wis., at the village of Cedar River, Mich., where nearly all the property belonged to Crawford, early in the morning on June 5, 1925 when the village was destroyed by fire.

GAVE SMITH $158,000

Samuel Insull, Chicago public utilities magnate, gave $158,000 to the campaign of Col. Frank Smith in the Illinois Republican senatorial primary, he told the Senate's campaign fund investigators, when they convened in Chicago. This picture was taken in the committee room, showing Insull in the foreground with Edward H. Wright, Negro politician and member of the Illinois commerce commission, waiting to testify.

ARIDITY HANGS OVER BAHAMAS

Agreement With England May Prevent Americans from Quenching Thirst

London—(AP)—Aridity threatens the Bahamas Islands insofar as they are a fountain for thirsty stay at home Americans. The oasis where the tenants of rum row get their supplies to sell off the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, is affected by an agreement reached by Brig. General Lincoln, C. Andrews, head of prohibition enforcement in the United States, and British officials.

The British government gives the American prohibition forces certain latitude in the territorial waters of the Bahamas, lying virtually within an hour's steaming distance of the Florida coast.

Although the details of the agreement are being kept secret, it is described as constituting the greatest blow to bootlegging since prohibition went into effect.

It is understood that the United States will be permitted to have an intelligence service in the Bahamas Islands to trace liquor shipments, and also that the British government will supervise carefully the use of the British flag by vessels engaged in carrying alcoholic cargoes and deal with infractions of the law regarding clearances, quarantine and other matters.

An official statement says there was no question at the conferences of any extension of the right of search.

PAINTERS TO MEET IN SHEBOYGAN NEXT YEAR

Racine, Wis.—(AP)—Sheboygan was unanimously selected for the 1927 meeting by the Wisconsin State Association of Master Painters and Decorators in annual meeting here. Officers elected:

President, Fred Runtz of Milwaukee; vice president, William Stricker of Sheboygan; secretary, H. F. Moers, Racine; re-elected; member advisory board Herbert H. Love, Milwaukee; member of executive board, John Hannon, Waukegan; trustees, Edward Klug, Milwaukee; re-elected; Zeno Lacque, Green Bay.

Wisconsin representative on international board, John Yonk, Burlington, re-elected.

Delegates to international convention at Milwaukee in February: B. F. Mautz, Madison; R. H. Thresher, Fond du Lac, and H. F. Moers, Racine.

ENJOIN DEPARTMENT FROM TITLE ATTACK

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The interior department was enjoined Wednesday by the District of Columbia Supreme Court from attacking the title of the Standard Oil Co. of California to certain lands in the Elk Hills Naval reserve.

BABY IS CRUSHED TO DEATH BY BIG TRUCK

Racine—(AP)—Unseen by the driver, Mary Kretzner, 16 months old, was crushed to death under the wheels of a fruit truck. The vehicle was backed out from between two houses.

CAL STRONGER WITH PEOPLE, FORD BELIEVES

Paul Smith, N. Y.—(AP)—Belief that President Coolidge is in a stronger position with the people than he ever has been, was expressed Wednesday by Edsel Ford, son of the automobile manufacturer who is a guest at White Pine Camp.

Accompanying Mr. Coolidge to the executive offices, Mr. Ford received newspaper correspondents and, in response to questions declared his confidence in the future of commercial aviation and gave his views on political conditions.

The position of the president, he said, was due to "sound policies" especially in the matter of economy. The country, he added, is in a "wonderful condition" and Mr. Coolidge is to a great extent responsible for it.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS FINE OF $50

Menasha Man Admits Guilt Before Judge Heinemann in Municipal Court

The roll of drunken drivers sentenced in municipal court here since Jan. 1: mounted to 15 Tuesday afternoon when P. C. Lamb of Menasha, pleaded guilty of driving an automobile while he was intoxicated before Judge Fred V. Heinemann.

Lamb paid a fine of $50 and costs for the offense, for which he was arrested on July 12, while he was driving his car on S. Oneida-st.

15 DRUNKEN DRIVERS SINCE JAN. 1

INGENIOUS FIRE TRAP DISCLOSED

Madison—(AP)—State Fire Marshal Olaf H. Johnson Wednesday disclosed an ingenious scheme for firing a barn in Marathon-co which resulted in the arrest of A. Fondrel, Abbottsford, now confined in the northern hospital for the insane at Oshkosh.

The fire trap was set in the barn of H. Wideman near Abbottsford. A small can half full of gasoline was set in the barn, Mr. Johnson said. A piece of wood was fashioned into a candle holder, and was held at the bottom of the can by an iron weight. The gasoline would then become ignited after an hour when the candle burned down.

A neighbor saw the flickering light of the candle as the gasoline was ignited, and the barn was saved. Fondrel was arrested after an investigation and found insane by physicians. He was taken to Oshkosh Tuesday.

BURLINGTON GIRL IN ESSAY CONTEST

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin's entrant in the H. S. Firestone National Essay contest will be Elvira Seno, Burlington high school student. Her essay on "The Relation of Improved Highway to Education" was awarded first prize in the Wisconsin contest and she will compete for the forty-year university scholarship offered for the best essay in the nation. Announcement to this effect was made Wednesday by the judging committee headed by Dudley Brooks of the University of Wisconsin. Olaf Horne, land, Tomah, was second, and Elizabeth Wood, Washington High, Milwaukee, third.

Mexico To Assume Charge Of All Catholic Churches

Mexico City—(AP)—The government Wednesday issued orders by which it refuses to permit Catholic priests when they cease to function at mid-night Saturday to turn over their churches to committees of Catholic laymen appointed by them for each church.

Instead, the government has ordered the churches placed in charge of committees appointed by the mayors of each town or city.

Government officials Wednesday were investigating reports from Agua Calientes of the first death by violence as an outgrowth of the religious situation.

Meanwhile Catholics throughout the Republic continued to flock to the churches to hear mass and receive the sacraments because after next

ILLINOIS RACE COST SENATOR OVER $350,000

Personal Attorney for Defeated Candidate Testifies Before Committee

HELP WASN'T SOUGHT

Senator Decided to Pay Expenses in His Fight for Renomination

Chicago—(AP)—Senator William B. McKinley decided to stand all of the expenses of his fight for renomination in the recent Illinois primary, Henry I. Green, his personal attorney testified Wednesday before the senate campaign funds committee.

In line with that policy, the senator, who was defeated for the Republican senatorial nomination by Frank L. Smith, accepted no outside contributions, Green said. It was disclosed Tuesday that the campaign cost McKinley $350,616.72. Green declared that this method of financing the campaign might seem "singular," but that the idea was that of the Senator in which he concurred. The witness said there may have been some small sums spent or services rendered by others, but that all he had heard of would not exceed $5,000.

"Pardon me," he added, "I understand that Mrs. McCormick was to have spent some money for advertising her foreign language newspaper, but whether she did or not I do not know."

"Where there is not a large number of circulars sent out by individuals or groups of individuals," asked Senator Reed.

"There were but I paid the expense out of his funds," Green replied.

Chairman Reed turned the inquiry back to McKinley's donations to charitable and educational institutions.

"Do you know a man named Hill being in the state to speak for the world court?"

"John Wesley Hill," said the witness, with Reed's help identified him as chancellor of Lincoln Memorial University in Kentucky. Hill and McKinley had been friends for years, the witness knew, and it was his impression that Hill came to Illinois to speak in the recent primary without getting any money for it, except his expenses.

The witness said he did not have a full list of expenses in the campaign. "The largest single individual who received money from me was John W. Stipes of Champaign, neighbor of the senator, who was in what has been called the campaign office writing some letters and doing work," Green testified.

"That was in the summer. Along in the fall I told him the senator wanted to pay him and that we wanted him to enlarge his activities."

Senator McKinley did not want Stipes to incur any personal expenses, Green said, adding that in all he paid over to Stipes "right around $100,000."

4 ROADS WILL MEET SHIPPING REDUCTION

Minneapolis—(AP)—Four major railroads serving Minneapolis announced Wednesday that they will meet the reduction of 3 cents per cwt. put in effect July 10 by the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad on grain and flour shipped from the Missouri river by way of Minneapolis, to points east of Illinois.

The four roads, which have joined in the move to increase the flow of winter wheat and other grains from the southwest into Minneapolis, are the Milwaukee, Northwestern, Burlington and Rock Island.

A Prospect Place

You might just as well call the classified section of the Post-Crescent a prospect place as anything else. It is the place where one goes to dig up prospects for jobs, for the purchase of used cars, for rooms and apartments that are for rent—and many other kinds.

This prospect place has just furnished several for a Prospect avenue room. Mr. J. Schmidt, 620 V. Prospect avenue, advertised a room for rent and now it no longer needs prospects. Like all apartments and rooms advertised in the Post-Crescent, it is now rented.

If YOU want anywhere from half a dozen to a hundred prospects, looking at your empty rooms or apartments—Just place an ad with the advertiser at Phone 443.

CITY BIDS GOODBYE TO KINSMAN AT INFORMAL DINNER

Speakers Pay Tribute to Lawrence College Teacher and His Wife

"We are honoring ourselves and the groups we represent by doing honor to one to whom honor is due," Gustave Keller, Sr. said in an address at the citizens farewell dinner to Dr. D. O. Kinsman, former professor of economics at Lawrence college, Tuesday evening at Hotel Northern. About 60 people, representing 50 local organizations attended the banquet. Dr. Kinsman will leave about Aug. 1 to join the faculty at Washington university, Washington, D. C.

"Dr. Kinsman and his wife," Mr. Keller said, "are entitled to all the honor, gratitude and appreciation that this community can give them. Their going will be a loss to the community that it will be hard to replace. Their going will be a loss to the county and to the state, also."

"However one bright thought which we may cherish in their going," Mr. Keller said, "is that again, Wisconsin, the good old Badger state, is about to make a valued contribution of a son and daughter to our country. Wisconsin has made many such offerings to the nation. Dr. and Mrs. Kinsman are entirely home products, and we are giving of our best."

JUST SAY GOODBYE
"We won't say farewell, but just goodbye," said Mr. Keller in closing. "because we are going to expect Dr. and Mrs. Kinsman back to Appleton on many visits and our doors always will be open to them."

E. H. Jennings was toastmaster at the banquet. He said the dinner was given to show Dr. Kinsman what the community thought about him. "Appleton cannot afford to lose such a good citizen as you have been," Dr. Kinsman, J. P. Frank said, "and when you go you will know that you have left your impress deep on the community. I, too, will not say farewell, but goodbye."

Mayor Albert C. Rule gave a short history of Dr. Kinsman's life in Appleton and cited the help he had given the state in writing the income tax law.

"His going will be a distinct loss to our community," he said.

TRIBUTE FROM LABOR

A fine tribute was paid to Dr. Kinsman by Fred Bachman, president of the Appleton Trades and Labor council, who said: "In behalf of the laboring class of Appleton I want to thank Dr. Kinsman for the help he has given us in the solving of our many problems. You have probably done as much as any man in Appleton toward bringing about the fine spirit of cooperation that exists between the working men and the employers of this city. Your going will be a big loss to our class and we shall never be able to fill it."

Mr. Bachman told that Dr. Kinsman had gone voluntarily to the working men and offered his help in their problems, that he had been and was still an honorary member of their organization and that he had attended meetings and given of his time and energy to help better working conditions and solve problems of the working man.

"We have always considered Dr. Kinsman as one of us," said Joseph Koffend Jr., "not as a member of any church or organization or even of Lawrence college, because he has ever been ready to help share the burdens of the community and we shall not realize that he has gone until we miss him in our daily life."

"The farmers of Outagamie-co. whom I represent will certainly miss you, Dr. Kinsman," said George Schaefer, representative of the county grange, "and I too will say goodbye, but not farewell."

Following the program an informal meeting was held with Dr. and Mrs. Kinsman.

KINSMAN-HONOR GUEST AT ROTARY PROGRAM

Appleton Rotarians will honor Dr. D. O. Kinsman, former professor of economics at Lawrence college at a banquet at 630 Thursday evening at Hotel Northern. Dr. Kinsman will leave Appleton about Aug. 1 for Washington, D. C.

Among the speakers will be Lee C. Rasey, Prof. R. C. Mullenix of Lawrence college, Joseph Koffend Jr., and Mrs. George Wetters-L. A. H. Wickesberg is to be toastmaster.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Unsettled tonight and Thursday, with showers or thunderstorms. WEATHER CONDITIONS
Low areas of unsettled and showery weather are developing in widely scattered sections. Indications for this section are that the western "low" will continue its eastward movement and cause mostly cloudy weather to night and Thursday, with local showers. Temperatures are moderate east of the Rockies and no material change is anticipated here. High pressure, with a sharp fall in temperature, is reported from the far northwest, but this cannot reach this section before Thursday night or Friday.

DR. AND MRS. D. O. KINSMAN

Directors Can't Agree On Value Of Movie Prologue

Hollywood—(AP)—The screen prologue, whose developing strides in the last few years have carried it from a ramble of 10 minutes showing to an elaborate production rivaling widely heralded stage presentations, is praised by one group of picture directors but characterized by another as a curse to the silver sheet.

Sid Grauman, under whose direction the prologue rose to its greatest height in the southwest, believes the picture preliminary will prove the agency which ultimately will span or lessen the gulf between stage and screen.

"I believe the playhouse of the future will divide its entertainment period half-and-half between footlight and film production."

"I vision the highest salaried dramatic artists appearing in person in conjunction with the presentation of mighty screen productions."

James Cruze is squarely behind Grauman.

"A good prologue," he said, "increases a picture's worth a hundred times."

GRESHAM FARM

EMPLOYEE DIES FROM INJURIES

Young Man Injured in Run-away Last Week Succumbs Here

George Lichterman, 28, of Stiles, died at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning as a result of injuries received when the wheel of a wagon, from which he had been thrown by a team of run-away horses last Thursday afternoon on a farm near Gresham, passed over his body.

Lichterman had been employed at the farm. Lichterman was not thought to be seriously hurt, but his condition became worse until he was finally taken to St. Elizabeth hospital late Thursday night. An examination showed that he had suffered a rupture of the intestines and an operation was performed.

Saturday, Lichterman's condition was improved and it was thought that he would recover.

The body was taken to Gresham Tuesday afternoon and funeral services are to be held there.

ANTIGO MAN SENT TO JAIL FOR 30 DAYS

Thirty days in Outagamie-co jail was the sentence imposed upon Edwin Jonas, Antigo, by Eled V. Helme-mann, acting municipal court judge, when he pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon of having committed assault and battery upon a 17-year-old Appleton girl. The offense took place Sunday evening. A second charge against Jonas was dropped at the request of the complaining witness.

ENGLISH BOYS ENJOY DETECTIVE STORIES

London—(AP)—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has a strong place in the affections of English boys. "The White Company," "Sherlock Holmes" and "Brigadier Gerard" are prime favorites with a majority of 12,500 English boys between fourteen and eighteen to whom the Y.M.C.A. sent questionnaires. The boys also liked Jack London's "White Fang," and "Pickwick Papers" and "Tom Brown's Schooldays."

Such discussed modern sex novels received few votes in the replies. British boys apparently incline to adventure, detective and sport stories in their preferences. In reply to queries as to what stories affected them most before they were fourteen, "Treasure Island," "Robinson Crusoe," "Kidnapped," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Kenilworth," "Westward Ho" and "Pilgrim's Progress" were most frequently mentioned.

Lee Van Derinder, former resident of Appleton and son Glen and John Doerflinger are visiting at the home of Mr. Van Derinder's father, James Van Derinder, 813 W. Packard-st. Mr. Van Derinder lives in Chicago and is connected with the Anaconda Copper Mining co. of Chicago.

fold. It works up the spirit so that when the picture is shown the mind of the audience is in the atmosphere of the picture. A poor prologue, however, tends to disrupt the train of thought."

Marshall Nellan, producer-director, condemns the prologue.

"They have come to be the curse of the motion picture theatre. One can come so weary looking at them that he is not able to enjoy to the utmost the picture that follows."

Cecil B. DeMille philosophizes:

"Making prologues for motion pictures is good showmanship, but making pictures for prologue is mighty poor production."

"The increasing use of the prologue has had the effect of encouraging producers to make pictures particularly suited for the preliminary tabloid. With such a picture a small town theatre owner with only an electric piano for additional attraction, finds himself in a predicament. To my mind a picture that cannot stand on its own merits without elaborate presentation is a poor picture."

Sidney Olcott does not consider the prologue beneficial to picture production unless it is "light, short, and has no bearing whatever on the production itself."

"A prologue that gives an inkling of the cinematic drama which is to follow takes some of the spice from the surprise that should come with the unfolding of the screen story."

Rupert Julian believes the prologue is of great importance in providing a fitting background for a picture, but that the picture itself should be hurtful to screen production.

"Good music is the picture's best support," Brenon asserted. "Prologues are so often not in sympathy with the picture itself, and are often the result of a theatre manager's effort to justify his position."

REQUEST PROGRAM TO BE PLAYED AT CONCERT

The 120th Field Artillery Band will play a request program at its last concert in Pierce Park Friday evening before leaving for Camp Robinson the next morning. Suggestions for numbers to be played by the band should be given to Edward F. Mumm, conductor, before Friday night.

The band will play two feature numbers, the Overture to William Tell and "Home Sweet Home the World Over." Carl McKee will be the soloist. One of the feature numbers, "Home Sweet Home the World Over," is being played by the band as its farewell number before it leaves for Camp Robinson Saturday. Last year this number was played after the return from camp.

Part of Friday evening's program will consist of an address on The Means to Appleton by Attorney J. P. Frank.

WANT COUNTY MILLS TO EXHIBIT IN FAIR BOOTH

Plans to invite manufacturers Outagamie-co. outside Appleton, to place their products in the Appleton-Outagamie-co. section of the Wisconsin products exhibit at the state fair in Milwaukee in September were made at a meeting of the industrial commission of the chamber of commerce Tuesday morning. The local section always has been called the Appleton-Outagamie-co. exhibit, but so far only Outagamie firms have exhibited products. A concerted effort will be made for county exhibits this year. Another meeting will be held Friday morning at the chamber of commerce.

WOMEN ARE NOT AS RELIGIOUS AS MEN

London—(AP)—Canon Marquis of Normandy, the only marquis in holy order, says women are not as religious as men.

"Women have grown worse in the last 50 years, while the attitude of men toward religion has improved," declared the canon, who is still preaching although he is 80 years old. "I think many modern women have too material and artificial an outlook on life—perhaps it is the reaction from their greater freedom."

The venerable canon says the great need of the established church in England is more vigorous men in its pulpits and he urges the laity to assist the church in paying better salaries. He says persons can not support families on $1,000 a year.

ZIMMERMAN PLAN LEADS TO WASTE, EKERN DECLARES

Opposes Proposal to Use Part of Road Fund for Other Purposes

Monticello—(AP)—Attorney General Herman L. Ekern, gubernatorial aspirant, Wednesday expressed opposition to the proposal which he said had been made by his opponent, Fred Zimmerman, "to divert a huge portion of the state's good road funds to other purposes."

The proposal, Mr. Ekern asserted, would place added burdens on the counties and cities and if instituted as a method of doing state business would lead to extravagance and waste.

"I shall insist that when money is collected for good roads it goes to good roads and not conservation or other purposes and when conservation money is collected it be devoted to conservation and not good roads or other matters," Mr. Ekern declared. He referred to the proposition of the plan as a candidate supported by the reactionary press and falsely posing as a progressive.

"The gasoline tax and the automobile license fees are collected from the automobilist for bettering our roads. These taxes and fees greatly reduce the local tax burden on property of the farmers and home owners," Mr. Ekern continued.

The present law was enacted by a LaFollette progressive legislature and should not be changed upon the demand of reactionaries who are always endeavoring to shift the burden of taxation upon the shoulders of the farmers and home owners.

"To take $500,000 or any larger sum from the gasoline tax as has been proposed, would mean that the taxes on property would be increased just that much more. There is no need for a dollar of tax on property for the fish and game fund. All the money that can be properly spent for propagation and protection of fish and game can easily be raised from the licenses and I shall insist that every dollar so paid be spent for this purpose."

"It is an old scheme of politicians to suggest the diversion of money from one fund for other uses. By this means extravagances and waste and even fraud may be indulged in. I am for using good roads money for good roads and conservation funds for conservation purposes."

SCOTT AND BOND ATTEND PRESBYTERIAN MEETING

Dr. Virgil B. Scott, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church and J. E. Bond left Tuesday morning for Waupesa to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin synod which opened Tuesday evening at Carroll college.

Dr. Scott will make a report at the convention for the committee on a new pension plan.

Dr. J. F. Hartman, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league will speak Wednesday night. The convention will continue through Sunday.

GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE LIFE OF HIS BROTHER

Elmer Brockman, a member of the Appleton Fire department, submitted to a blood transfusion Tuesday afternoon to save the life of his brother, Melvin, 19, R. R. 6, Appleton, who was severely burned about the body and both hands Monday afternoon. The condition of the injured youth was much improved Wednesday morning, according to the attending physician.

Brockman was employed by the Dubuque company, on a farm drainage project in the town of Freedom, and was helping a fellow employee start a dredge engine which backfired and exploded the priming gasoline.

FIVE HURT WHEN CAR OVERTURNS ON HIGHWAY 55

Kaukauna Young Man Cut and Bruised as Coupe Tips Over

Five Kaukauna youths were injured about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on Highway 55 about two miles east of Kaukauna, when the small coupe in which they were returning from Little Chicago overturned on an "S" curve. The injured: Phillip Cox, driver and owner of the car, cut about the head, eyes and mouth; William Hiltling, a broken collarbone and a cut on the back of his head; Paul Lucht, cut on left side by a piece of glass; Frank Rothenbach, internal injuries; Howard Canham, minor cuts and bruises.

Lucht was weakened from loss of blood and Rothenbach is in a serious condition.

The car made the first curve but overturned when the driver attempted to make the second turn. The car rolled over three times and ended with the wheel in the air. It was a total wreck.

YOUTH BRUSHED FROM CAR IS RECOVERING

The condition of Joseph Chisea, 20, of Vulcan, Mich., who was badly injured Monday when he was brushed from the top of a large moving van by the limb of a tree was slightly improved Wednesday morning, according to the attending physician.

Chisea and a companion John Bellison, 19, of Washington, D. C., had "hopped" a ride on the top of a truck of the Northern Transportation company of Green Bay. The accident occurred a short distance from Kimberly on highway 15. Bellison saw the overhanging branch in time to duck but not in time to warn Chisea. The injured youth was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Mrs. Alva Carter of Appleton.

Relatives of Chisea at Vulcan were notified of the accident and arrived in Appleton Tuesday.

BREON IS APPOINTED BANKRUPTCY TRUSTEE

C. D. Breon, Oshkosh, was appointed trustee at a meeting of creditors of H. A. Stammer, Seymour plumber, Tuesday afternoon at the office of C. E. Behnke, referee in bankruptcy. Mr. Breon was placed under $1,000 bond. L. C. Jantz and John Bauer, Appleton, and Ellis Hopkins, Seymour, were appointed appraisers. Mr. Stammer was declared bankrupt on June 28.

REPRIEVE FROM BLAINE KEEPS BOEHM FROM PEN

Governor Wants More Time to Act on Pardon Application

Doors of the state prison at Waupun, which were ready to swing wide this week to receive Anton Boehm, formerly of Calumet Harbor, will remain closed because of an almost last-minute reprieve from Governor John J. Blaine.

The governor's action, taken Tuesday afternoon, must have seemed a forlorn hope to Boehm, whose commitment papers to prison are already in the hands of Sheriff Peter Schwartz. Boehm was to have made his journey before the end of the week in atonement for his failure to stop his automobile on July 21, 1925, after the car had struck and seriously injured Benjamin Beschta.

Sheriff Schwartz is directed in the reprieve not to take Boehm, who is at liberty under bond at Fond du Lac, to Waupun until the governor has had time to investigate and act upon Boehm's application for pardon. It also directs the warden at Waupun to refuse to receive him until further notification.

Boehm was sentenced to a year in state prison by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court here, and the sentence was affirmed by the Wisconsin Supreme Court to which he appealed. Accompanied by Vincent Forster, Boehm drove a car which knocked Beschta down at the corner of North and Morrison-sts, and failed to stop after the accident. He was arrested during the evening, and shortly afterward was sued by Beschta who spent many weeks in a hospital.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits aggregating $5,150 were issued Wednesday by Walter O. Zschachner, city building inspector. A permit for a residence and garage at 1536 N. Division-st. was issued to the Fraser Lumber Co., 413 N. Superior-st. A garage permit was issued to George P. McGillan, 111 E. Franklin-st.

Beschta received about $2,500, and Boehm then was tried for failing to stop after injuring a person.

He testified in court that he did not know he struck Beschta, but was found guilty. The case was carried to the Supreme court on the plea that inasmuch as the law does not specify where a person shall be imprisoned for conviction in such cases Boehm should not be obliged to lose his civil rights by imprisonment in the state prison.

An application for pardon also was made to Governor Blaine.

Ranger Safety Sidewalk Bikes

Fun and safety on sidewalk, playground, and in your own yard. For boys and girls 5 to 10 years of age. Made in boys' and girls' models.

Do not confuse these high grade full ball bearing sidewalk bicycles with the two-wheel pedal driven toy "scooters" made with heavy iron castings, heavy gauge gas pipe, clumsy wheels, three piece velocipede cranks, and plain bearings in the steering head, etcetera.

Ranger Sidewalk Bikes are many pounds lighter in weight and are as durably built as a full sized Ranger bicycle. The frames and forks are made of the same light weight steel tubing and the construction is identical with these famous full-sized Ranger Adult models. The tiny 14" wheels are practically indestructible. Fully guaranteed for a year.

Ranger Sidewalk Bikes look and ride like the big Ranger bicycles—with New Departure coaster brakes, regular bicycle hubs and bicycle spokes in the wheels, with big cushion rubber "balloon" tires—adjustable handle bars and saddles—in hand rubbed Ranger baked on golden brown enamel, trimmed in snow white enamel. All fittings in gleaming nickel plate finish of the very best quality.

YOUR QUESTION AND ITS ANSWER

QUESTION: I am bothered with constipation. Will adjustments help me?

ANSWER: Chiropractic adjustments will help you because they correct the cause of your trouble. The muscles of the intestines must possess a 100% flow of vitality over the nerves feeding them. Spinal pressure upon intestinal nerves slows up the bowels.

QUESTION: I am continually suffering with chronic tonsillitis. My family physician advised me to have them removed. What is your opinion?

ANSWER: My opinion is that you consult a competent chiropractor and he will locate the cause that is producing your tonsils to be diseased or abnormal. Taking for example that you have a sore, swollen finger and you have consulted your physician, would he advise removal of the finger, or would he assist nature in bringing the finger back to normal? You need your tonsils, adenoids and appendix, therefore keep them. Get at the cause and the effects will disappear. Therefore my opinion is that chiropractic adjustments is what you need.

Prompted by a desire to give the public a chance to be correctly informed about Chiropractic, I have adopted a policy of making no charge for consultation and invite you to call for a friendly talk about my science and its application to your ailment.

Outselling all rival Sixes. Read why

"HAD a wonderful trip. Made 606 miles in 1 1/2 days, without trouble. The new '70' Willys-Knight Six has no equal"—a post card from one owner to a friend.

The new "70" Willys-Knight Six is the latest word in modern engineering from both sides of the world.

Tests prove it the most efficient American car.

Its motor is the most powerful standard motor of its size in America.

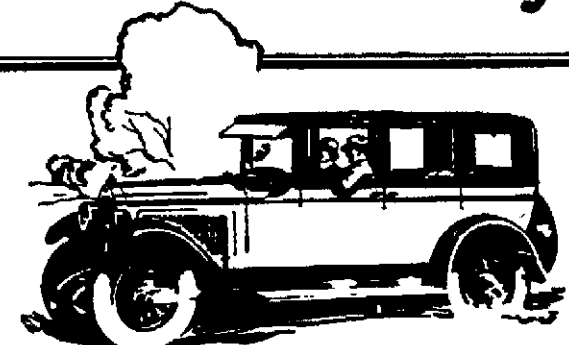

The motor of this car is an exclusive feature—the famous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor, patented—a feature other manufacturers would pay millions to get.

Better and more powerful than any other motor of its size when new, it grows smoother, more powerful, more efficient with every mile.

It has no valves to grind. You never lay it up for carbon-cleaning.

It has no springs to weaken.

It is practically fool-proof and wear-proof.

No Willys-Knight motor, so far as we know, has ever worn out...

You will find the new "70" Willys-Knight Six the most economical and continuously satisfactory car you can drive. Please ride in it.

48,215 Miles in the Arch Preserver Shoe!

"TOURING THE WORLD ON FOOT"

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baxter, who are shown in the accompanying illustration, left Indianapolis today to complete their 50,000-mile hike, wearing the

Mr. Baxter, a partially disabled war veteran, was advised by physicians to live an active outdoor life. Consequently he and his wife started on a 50,000-mile hike around the world. To date they have covered 48,215 miles, have visited the entire forty-eight states, Canada, Mexico and Cuba. At the start Mr. Baxter weighed 117 pounds. Now, five years later, he tips the scales at 148 pounds.

"Walk and Be Healthy"

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Are Unsolicited Wearers of Arch Preserver Shoes

Mrs. Baxter started the trip in Arch Preservers, her first pair being resoled eight times before being discarded after 14,310 miles of service. Mrs. Baxter selected Arch Preservers only after thoroughly trying out seven other nationally known makes. She says that she can walk 15 miles farther a day and with less fatigue than in any other kind she has ever worn.

If Arch Preserver shoes can give the Baxters complete foot comfort and foot forgetfulness throughout the strenuous plodding miles they have traveled, imagine what delightful comfort and relief Arch Preserver Shoes can give to your poor abused feet in their ordinary daily routine.

Safeguarding Your Estate

An executor should not only possess experience and ability for managing an estate, but should also be financially responsible.

An individual executor may be required to give bond, but this is often much lower than the value of the estate. Should he lack the requisite financial responsibility, claims for restoration as a result of mis-handling might not be collected in full.

This bank is not required to furnish bonds, as its ample resources assure adequate protection in the administration of estates. The restrictions placed around its investments, and the frequent examinations of its condition are factors in the protection which this kind of business requires.

Financial responsibility is of vital importance in the administration of every estate and should have your serious consideration when you are selecting your executor.

BUSES NEED REGULATION

A tourist bus carrying women and children got out of control on a long hill at Spark Hill, N. Y., crashed into the side of a building as it turned the corner on two wheels, and 10 persons were killed and 46 injured, many of them seriously.

There have been many bus accidents, one kind or another, in which persons were killed or injured. There will be many more. As yet, the operation of motor busses is under very unsatisfactory regulation. This is particularly true in Wisconsin and the conditions are probably the same in other states. Practically any person can operate a bus line in this state, regardless of his financial responsibility or, what is most important, of his moral responsibility. In this situation it is inevitable that incompetent and careless chauffeurs get into bus drivers' seats. Some of them are temperamentally unfit for the performance of this duty, some are inexperienced, etc., etc.

Every person who operates a bus should be compelled to do so under a license and regulations which make him financially accountable for damage and loss of life or limb. Every employee he hires to operate a bus should be subjected to as strict an examination as is required by railroads for engineers. Finally, every machine operated should be compelled to undergo thorough inspection at short intervals to determine the soundness of steering apparatus, brakes, etc. Without these precautions and restrictions patrons of motor busses, as well as the public at large, are being subjected to unreasonable dangers. There is not one-tenth the danger from trains on railroads there is from automobiles on public highways, yet automobile operation does not receive one-tenth the care or precaution employed in railway operation.

ABOLISH SLAVERY

In some lands slavery of the most revolting and inhuman kind still exists. Human beings are captured and sold; families are forcibly separated, never to see each other again; children are sold out of their mother's arms. Body and life are at the disposal of the buyer. Human beings are bought and sold in the open market like any other commodity.

There are also more insidious forms of slavery. In some countries natives are exploited and forced labor conditions exist. There is peonage, debt slavery, concubinage and so-called adoption, together with many other forms of restriction of personal liberty and serfdom.

The United States might well exert its influence to remedy the evil. The enslaving of human beings and the existence of conditions analogous to slavery are matters to which no great state can be indifferent, especially one which claims to influence the ethical standards of the century. It is therefore gratifying that the American state department is prepared to submit "observations" at Geneva that promise to make the United States a party to the new international conscience being crystallized by the League of Nations.

FARM CONDITIONS IMPROVE

The department of agriculture's survey found further improvement in the financial condition of farmers in 1925 over the preceding three years. While the improvement is only slight and applies mostly to farmers of certain classifications, it indicates a gradual return to a healthier condition. However, much greater improvement must be made possible in the very near future if the farm is to be kept from serious loss through the inevitable desertion of manpower to more lucrative occupations. Farm population is said to be noticeably decreasing. In the past year alone the department of agriculture reports a falling off of 479,000. The farm is too vital to the life of the nation to be permitted this constant decline.

The means for proper aid for the farmer may be difficult to determine, and to provide after being determined, but unless some means are found, the farm will continue to backslide, and, in doing so, will take with it the strength and vitality of the nation.

We have not outgrown the farm. Let us not get that idea. We cannot yet live on synthetic food, laboratory prepared, and it is necessary for farms to exist in order that we may eat. Farms cannot exist unless they are profitable. They are not particularly profitable now, and, in fact, in some lines they are a losing proposition. The solution is obvious. Some method must be provided whereby farms can be made profitable. Congress, at the last session, made no progress with remedial legislation in that direction, but it is certainly one of the topics of major importance which must be settled at the next session.

POOR PARENTS

Parents are having a hard time of it. Everybody seems to take the keenest pleasure in finding new faults in this faultsome age for which they are responsible. They stand accused of the responsibility for the waywardness of youth, its peculiarities, its faults and its crimes. After reading the denunciations by their self-appointed critics, modern parents are impressed with the idea that they are creatures totally unfit to associate with their kind. Society, church and state hasten to assure them that this is so.

But is this fair? Is not society at large responsible, and the parent the unwitting agent through which society has branded its young with the mark of its own depravity? Parents, by the large, are about as decent as those who have not assumed this responsibility, and it seems too bad to saddle them with the tendency to unrestrained that is evident in the youth of the day.

Parents of the present age are perhaps not models by which the perfect man or woman might be patterned, but at least they have no more of the earmarks of Satan than were sported by the parents of bygone days. As a matter of fact, in the "good old days" the records of the times show that the people, as a whole, were not as cultured, as refined or as capable as those of today. Certainly by all standards of education and custom the parent of today is the better equipped to intelligently perform the delicate task of raising children who will be good citizens.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

ARTIFICIAL

A cute little youngster of seven years old had all he could want in the world, I am told. He got all he craved for, despite the expense. His dad, so they say, had more money than sense.
A home, where a nurse maid was ever at hand, and one that, of course, was the last word in grand. Quite petted and pampered, this poor little elf. He never was made to do a thing for himself.
And clothes? He had more than he ever could wear, or more, by a long ways, than any kid's share. With such things on hand, it is safe I say that they made him change garments' bout four times a day.
A pool all his own built right into the ground, was where the kid swam—with no other kids' round. The servants, of course, kept their eyes on the child. A towering fence never let him run wild.
With nothing to wish for, with all dreams brought true. With guard-eyes upon him, whatever he'd do, you might think him happy, as happy can be, but frankly, a POOR little rich child is he.

KEEP YOUR HAIR ON

Little while ago reader took me to task for my confession, of "change of mind" about the bobbing business. I kinda thought I had "changed my mind" about it, and that I no longer considered the ruthless cropping of a woman's hair a reprehensible thing. This reader sort of tripped me up by inquiring whether I had not just lowered my standard. He asked also whether the reason for my former depreciation of the craze for such mutilation was not the fact that the practice began among inmates of jails and the charity wards of hospitals for the abandoned. And I had to admit the reader was right. The practice of cropping the hair was popular among "red lighters and fast women" 50 years ago. Perhaps it was resorted to, by such women, in a desperate attempt to save some of the hair, which is often lost as a consequence of disease. This reader signed himself "Jim."

Now comes another who takes issue with "Jim." "Surely you will not let the words of this fellow Jim who says that art is always art go unchallenged? What has art to do with the length of a woman's tresses—or dresses?"

I'll say that I think it has a great deal to do with both matters, though what I don't know about art fills several shelves of my library.

"George Washington wore a powdered wig and silken breeches, a long other things. Does Jim? And he is a doctor?"

"Always" is a tough word to use recklessly. Song writers can get away with it. Artists may be pardoned for occasional lapses. But a doctor must be careful. Not so long ago it was refined and cultured and proper to go to the barber to be bled. Customs change. Now one consults an educated physician for surgical treatment.

"Not so long ago refined folk served wines and cordials with meals in strict accord with the dictates of current etiquette. Then drinking became unhealthful, even unusual; and now it is criminal. Customs change."

"My life is so different from that of my grandfather that we might be of different planets. From the cut of my footware to the cut of my hair to the work I do and the tastes and diversions I cultivate, everything is changed."

"There is Jim with his prating about 'once art, always art.' Who is the arbiter of art or culture? Who decides whether long hair or short hair is correct?"

"Even art changes. 'Always' is a long time." "Jimmy, Christmas, That's so, too."

Yet Jim certainly said a mouthful when he assured me I hadn't really changed my mind, but only lowered my standards. "One can get used to almost anything," he averred, "but that does not justify the offense. There are no fashions in the laws that define decency and art. Once art, always art. Once an indecency, always an indecency. Refinement and culture always were and always will be virtues."

A third reader thinks: "Jim is right—and then some. So is Dr. Ansell at Yale and so was Shakespeare when he said 'Vice is a monster of such horrid mien as to be hated, needs but to be seen, but when familiar with his face we first endure, then pity, then embrace.'"

"It is a delicate subject on which most people prefer to remain silent. Today indecency and immorality are so widespread that people are beginning to forget that these things are what they are."

These comments about morality are inspired by the discussion of cigarette smoking by girls, which printed along with Jim's communication. In that discussion I said I would not trust a youth who smokes, and I added that I would not trust a girl who smokes either secretly or openly, although I believe it is all right for a man or woman to use tobacco temperately if he or she desires. The child who lacks moral vigor cultivates smoking; the healthy, normal child can wait until he is grown up.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Catch 'Em Young

Yesterday an inquiry as to why my 8 year old daughter's tooth paste was no, diminishing elicited the following reply: "Doctor Brady says brushing your teeth is all the bunk and does no more good than brushing your tonsils or your appendix.".... If for no other reason than appearance I feel that we must brush our teeth regularly.... (D. E.)
Answer—Your daughter gets me! I am always delighted to learn that I have caught one young. No harm at all in brushing your teeth for the sake of appearance or to prevent that dirty feeling you get from reading the gds, but so far as hygiene is concerned, or the conversation of the teeth your daughter heard me the first time.

FAIR?

Sweede and Mike were hired to do some work. On the completion of the job the boss paid Mike with a ten-dollar bill and a five-dollar bill, and told Mike to pay Sweede. Whereupon Mike gave Sweede five dollars.

"Look here, Mike, this ain't fair. You give me five and keep ten for yourself."

"Why ain't it fair? Now suppose you had a ten-dollar bill and a five-dollar bill."

"Yes."

"And you were going to give me some money."

"Yes."

"And you are a big-hearted fellow, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"And you are a gentleman."

"Yes."

"Wouldn't you give me the ten-dollar bill and keep the five?"

"Yes."

"Then what the devil are you kicking about?"

SELLING CLAM SHELLSSpecial to the Post-Crescent
Fremont — The Wolf River Pearl Button company has sold two carloads of crushed clam shells, which are used as chicken grit, and trucks are hauling the bagged material to the Soo Line station at Fremont, from where the crushed shells will be shipped by rail. The chicken grit is sold at retail prices here. Button factory officials declare that the clam shell is a better chicken grit than the oyster shell because of a greater amount of lime it contains. The clam shell contains 96 per cent lime, according to state chemical laboratories test.

Two representatives of the state highway commission are surveying the road on highway 18 between the county line near Dale and the bridge across the Wolf river. The road on highway 95 also will be surveyed and taken out to the county line. Next summer work will begin in constructing the 43.5 miles of concrete and 69.2 miles of gravel road in Waupaca-co, made possible by the voters acting favorably on the $1,200,000 bond issue at a special election in June. Of the nine and three-fourths miles of concrete to be laid next year, seven and three-fourths miles will be laid on highway 18 and 95 near the passing through Fremont. When highway 18 between Fremont and the county line near Dale is paved, there will be a concrete road from Waupaca to Appleton with the exception of a mile or more between the county line and Dale.

NINON TELLS HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL

RUTH ANDREA DEMONSTRATING THE EXERCISE FOR KEEP-ING THE CHIN BEAUTIFUL.

Symptoms—A wrinkled and sagged condition under the chin revealing too much of the mechanical structure of the neck. Diagnosis—The tissues are under-nourished and require stimulation and rejuvenation. Such a condition is natural as one advances in years, and is an indication of age, so it should be postponed in life as late as possible.

Treatment—Station both your thumbs at the corner of your lower jaw. With your fingertips moving from the center of your chin, gently follow the creases, crasing and mold-ing the flesh with gentle strokes. Be-fore you start, dip your finger tips in a nourishing skin food or massage cream and work in all skin will ab-sorb. Do this night and morning. The wrinkles will do a fade-out.

FORESTERS TO HOLD ANNUAL STAG OUTING

Household Hints

SAME APPLIES TO FUDGE
When making ice cream at home add a very small amount of salt to bring out the flavor.

DELICACIES
Now that the preserving season is at hand, fill some of the tiny individ-ual jars with choice jams and jellies. They are most inviting for an in-valid's, or the breakfast that is individually served.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE
For breakfast fruit there can be no lack of variety these days—besides the regulation orange juice, or cantaloupe there are strawberries on the steam, cherries on the stem, iced melon or iced peaches.

SUMMER DIET
The omelet, or any cheese or egg dish may replace meat very advan-tagously for the summer luncheon.

PREVENT INDIGESTION
Now that the iced tea and iced coffee season is at hand, remember that when drunk very rapidly iced drinks are apt to cause discomfort by too sudden chilling of the stom-ach. To sip them slowly is more re-freshing as well as more healthful.

REDUCE RICH PORTIONS
In summer menus require less ac-tual cooking but more planning than in winter. Fresh fruits, vegetables, milk and cool drinks must be fea-tured.

BUYING HINT
When selecting macaroni remem-ber the good grade is yellowish and rough in texture; it breaks cleanly without splitting, and does not be-come pasty or lose its tubular shape in cooking.

HIGH IN CALORIES
Cheese sandwiches fried in hot but-ter make a very rich and satisfying portion of food. They must be fried very quickly so the butter does not soak into the bread.

LOOK COOL, AT LEAST
In furnishing your summer home, remember that cool colors, such as green, blue, the paler yellows and warm grays give much more of an illusion of coolness than the warm reds and oranges.

RESERVED SEALS
In the coldest sections of your re-frigerator keep the milk, butter, meat stock and the covered uncooked meats.

SOUP SUGGESTION
A little salt helps to preserve soup stock but it must be used sparingly at first as the stock grows saltier as it lessens by evaporation.

THEY HELP OUT
When buying roasts and steaks have the butcher send home the trim-mings to be used in soup stock.

CORRECT SEASONING
In stewing add water from time to time so as to keep the meat covered. If the broth is too watery, it can be boiled down afterward be-fore it is poured on the meat.

JUNIORS SCORE
WIN IN FIRSTDefeat Little Chute in First Game of Youngsters' League

Kaukauna—Kaukauna won its first game in the Fox River Valley Junior Baseball league, defeating Little Chute 6 to 5 in a well played game at the Kaukauna ball park Tuesday afternoon. The locals got off to a bad start, and the score was 2 to 0 against them before they could get going. Lister, Keefe and Taylor were the big guns in the Electric City lineup. The three all hit safely in the third and with several walks three runs were scored. Little Chute forced ahead in the fourth by scoring once. Taylor eluded out sizzling double in the fourth and brought in two runs to put Kaukauna in the lead. One more run was scored before the inning was over. Little Chute scored again in the eighth.

Friday Kaukauna meets Neenah at Neenah. Neenah has a strong team and the local boys will have to be on edge to win.

KROMER SELLS
STAR FOR $750Kaukauna Man's Team In Oklahoma Reposes in League Cellar

Kaukauna—George "Stormy" Kromer, former Kaukauna baseball manager and at present owner of the Blackwell, Okla. ball club in the Southwestern league, has sold Buddy Lewis to the Lincoln, Neb. team in the Western league for $750. Lewis was the star second baseman on the Blackwell team. He will report to Lincoln at once.

Kromer's team is still losing games through the wildness of its pitchers. The Gassers having won 6 and lost 14 games in the second half of the league season. Belanti is still managing the team for Kromer. The Gassers are in the cellar, but Kromer believes they will finish closer to the top. Base has star pitcher is not quite eighteen years of age. Mickey another pitcher is only 18. Kromer has not been successful as yet in securing players from the disbanded Bluffville team in the Tri-state league.

"Stormy" is looking for new pitching talent. He has considerable difficulty keeping northern players down in Oklahoma because of the extreme heat in that region.

MULFORD ERRORS GIVE THILMANYS EASY WIN

Kaukauna—Mulford's Specials softball team lost a league game to the Thilmany troupe by committing more errors in one game than it was possible for the official scorer to keep track of. The final decision was 17 to 2. Youngberg was on the mound for the clothiers and although a bit wild at times he pitched a good game, but was forced into bad holes by the terrible playing of the infield. Anderson at third made five straight errors. Thilmany players were on their toes and cut off many a run by stellar playing. Thilmany scored twice in the first, once in the third and three times in the fourth. In the fifth Mulford absolutely blew up and five runs went across the home plate. Thilmany scored again in the sixth and the clothiers got their only two runs by the "yell and hit" method in this game. They tried it again in the seventh and after getting a good start a double play killed the rally. Thilmany again ran wild in the seventh and scored five more runs.

The lineups: Thilmany: Brenzel, Linkebege, Schmalz, Klammer, Loez, Lizon, Gerend, Bier, Dix, and Schmalz.
Mulford: Youngberg, Robideau, Hass, Haas, Rennicke, Brenzel, Michelson, Anderson, Webster and Berens.

FINISH BRIDGE
IN TWO MONTHSConcrete on Konkrapot Structure to Be Completed in Six Weeks

Kaukauna—The Konkrapot creek bridge will be completed within six weeks and two more weeks will be necessary to "cure" the pavement on the bridge before it is ready for use. Tuesday workmen were engaged in finishing the work along the Chicago and Northwestern railway tracks preparatory to dynamiting it. All the old bridge except two arches have been torn down. The top of the two arches will be torn off and a new top will be built on. The road on the bridge will be widened to twenty feet and there will be a five foot walk along the roadway. A new span will be built between the railroad tracks and the present bridge. This span will be 45 feet long while the total length of the completed bridge will be 102 feet. Guard rails will be built on the bridge.

Surplus dirt removed from the channel is being used to reinforce the up-river banks. A crew of Chicago and Northwestern bridge men are reinforcing their side of the creek.

CITY BELONGS TO FARMERS TUESDAYMonthly Stock Fair Day Is Well Attended; Sales Are Numerous

Special to the Post-Crescent
New London—New London belonged exclusively to farmers of the surrounding community Tuesday, stock fair day. The streets were crowded and there was a spirit of holiday which made itself felt throughout the day. Music by the New London band was played at different points of the downtown district and the local theater management, Hickey and Wadkins, threw open their doors at 10:30 and entertained with an excellent photo-play. The afternoon was given over to an auction at the stock fair grounds, a weight lifting contest, sack race, shot put and egg contest. Interest also was evidenced by the Charleston and accordion and concertina contest. George Bellie, Hortonville, won the prize offered to the first farmer to register. H. Kuehl brought in the longest cornstalk, which measured 8 feet 8 inches in length.

Paul Feimanick won the prize for the best peck of early potatoes, while Mike Ahearn won second prize for the second best peck. Mrs. H. Bolter exhibited the largest and best assortment of vegetables. William O'Connell won a prize for the largest and fattest calf which weighed 190 pounds. William Gracious, with the largest family of pigs, captured a prize as did Robert J. Noel of Bear Creek on his largest assortment of spring chickens. Mrs. Henry Prah and Mrs. Joe Matich took prizes on their spring chickens also.

One hundred fifty-four dollars worth of merchandise, including produce and livestock, were auctioned off by Adam Shuder, auctioneer.

FREE CONSULTATION TO CHRONIC SUFFERERS

I want to talk to you. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit does not discourage me in the least; I am helping men and women every day, effecting cures, many times, in cases pronounced incurable by others, so that I feel sure I can do as much for you. My counsel will cost you nothing but my charges for treatment will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred.

I treat Rheumatism, Nervousness, Gout, Asthma, Stomach and Heart Troubles, Catarrh, Blood and Skin Diseases, Constipation, Urinary and Kidney Diseases and Diseases peculiar to Women.

Dr. Turbin
WHO has visited this vicinity for the past thirty years will be again in

Notice of September Primary
September 7, 1926STATE OF WISCONSIN,
COUNTY OF OUTAGAMIE } ss

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at a primary, to be held in the several Towns, Wards, Villages and Election precincts of said county on the first Tuesday of September, A. D. 1926, being the 7th day of said month, the following State, Congressional, Legislative and County Officers are to be nominated:

A GOVERNOR, in place of John J. Blaine, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1927.

A LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,

STAGE AND SCREEN

USE RUTGERS FOR FILM SCENES

Rutgers University at New Brunswick, New Jersey, was used for many scenes of college life which figure prominently in "The Pinch Hitter," Glenn Hunter's latest starring vehicle at the New Bijou Friday and Saturday.

"The Pinch Hitter" tells the adventures of a green country boy, enacted by Glenn Hunter, who goes to college where he is unmercifully hazed. He falls in love with the beautiful waitress at the college lunch, and suffers all the agonies of the love-lover, intensified by the fact that his classmates are aware of his affection and constantly play jokes on him and the girl.

He goes out for the baseball team and is tolerated by his classmates because he makes them laugh. Discouraged, he thinks of quitting, but is inspired by the girl, played by Constance Bennett, to persevere. At the climax of the picture, he is called into the big baseball game of the season as a pinch hitter, and wins the game with a home run, redeeming himself in the eyes of everyone, and winning the girl.

Hunter is well cast in this role, and succeeds in making it a very appealing and sympathetic part. Antrim Short as the obnoxious sophomore is likable for all his malice, and Jack Drummer and Reginald Sheffield are well cast. Miss Bennett, as the waitress, is worth any college boy's gallantry and struggles to make good.

CROOK MELODRAMA HAS ACTION, THRILLS AND LIONEL BARRYMORE WITH GOOD CAST

"Brooding Eyes," at the New Bijou to-day and Thursday will send many a pleasant thrill down your spinal column. When "Slim Jim Carey" substitutes his own piercing eyes for the staring eyes of his and watches the "gang" trying to dupe his daughter, I defy anyone to remain calm enough not to shout—loudly if not actually "Wait, you blackguards! Just wait!"

Action, suspense, mystery and love are nicely blended in this story of London's underworld and peacage. This is a crook story different from the rest—a story of a master mind, a man of aristocratic family, who would have sat in the House of Lords if he had not preferred the more perilous existence of an adventurer. But although he forfeited his title he risks everything to secure it for his daughter.

Lionel Barrymore gives a flawless performance as the man with the brooding eyes. He is supported by one of the best casts it has been our pleasure to see. Their uniformly good acting deserves that commendation he given to Ruth Clifford, as Slim Jim's daughter, William V. Mong, Montagu Love, John Miljan and Lucien Littlefield, as the crooks, Robert Ellis, as the upstanding young attorney who is everything a girl could wish for and Alma Bennett, as the adventuress, and Dot Farley, as her mother.

"THE BOOB" HAS YOUTHFUL APPEAL

A picture of youth that will delight old as well as young, is the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Production, "The Boob," directed by William A. Wellman, which is coming to the Elite Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

It is heralded as one of the real comedy-dramas of the year, having for its theme the story of a youth who goes into the world to remedy its ills. George K. Arthur is playing a leading comedy role and Gertrude Olmsted and Joan Crawford appear as the feminine leads. Charlie Murray is also featured and has not a little to do with the many hilarious situations. Antonio D'Agay and Hank Mann complete the cast.

"The Boob" is Wellman's first production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It was adapted for the screen by Kenneth Clarke from the story "Don Quixote, Jr.," by George Scarborough and Annette Westbay.

CHILTON CITIZEN ILL WITH BLOOD POISONING

Special to the Post-Crescent

Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Berger of Arkansas City, Kansas, are visiting at the home of the former's brother, George Berger. Dr. Berger is a native of this city and graduate of the local high school.

H. C. Verbeck of Neenah, was a Chilton visitor Tuesday. He was a member of the high school faculty in the nineties.

Dr. and Mrs. D. T. Jones of Wausau were guests at the home of Mrs. John McMullen Friday. Both of them lived in Chilton for many years, the former being assistant principal, the latter a teacher here for a number of years. The latter was the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. LaCount.

The west approach to the Main-st. bridge, which was paved last week, will be opened for traffic Thursday. The work of paving Springs-st. is rapidly nearing completion, and Mill School and Washington-sts. are being graded preparatory to being paved.

After an absence of about ten months "Governor Peck" again has established himself at the City hall. Henry Rollmann, who has spent the past two weeks visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Juochen in Minneapolis, has returned to his home. Mr. and Mrs. Rollmann

ARM BANDS GAIN FAVOR WITH ENGLISH WOMEN

London —(AP)—Fashionable women are not content with a revival of the old-fashioned bracelet, but have gone in for bands measuring four to five inches in width, costing up to 2,000 pounds. These are of diamonds and fit like a cuff to the arm. Where one bracelet cannot be obtained, two or three single bangles half an inch wide in colored stones or diamonds are being worn. Watch bracelets have been widened to meet the prevailing fashion.

Dull Aching Pains In Back
Completely Overcome By "Dreco"

Grateful citizen tells how famous plant and herb tonic quickly overcomes kidney troubles and builds him up. Sleeps fine now.

Free Samples New Herbal Remedy, Given By Dreco Man at SCHLITZ BROS. DOWNTOWN DRUG STORE

Each day sees many new faces in Schlitz Bros. Drug Store for all Appleton is learning of Dreco and how it is helping sickly folks all over town. The Dreco Expert is kept mighty busy and those in charge at Schlitz Bros. say they know of nothing quite as good as Dreco for relieving the many complaints caused by the failure of the digestive system and bowels to function properly.

Mr. James Read, 1416 Deyo-St., Jackson, Mich., recently gave the following statement:

"Dreco surely surprised me," he said "and I can honestly say I've never had a medicine do as much for me as this one did. I was troubled all the time with my kidneys and would have to get up 5 or 6 times during the night to relieve them but since taking Dreco I sleep the whole night thru."

"I used to have dull aching pains in my back all the time and no matter Mr. W. V. Martin, the well-known Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schlitz Bros. downtown drug-store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him.

James Read

what I tried nothing seemed to help me. Now I'm never bothered anymore and believe I'm as well as any man in the city. I'm eating like a horse and feel a whole lot stronger."

Dreco is made of the juices and extracts of many herbal plants which acts on the kidneys, bladder, stomach and blood and corrects many troubles such as gas on the stomach, constipation, weakness, poor appetite, nervousness, headaches, biliousness, catarrh, rheumatism, and such blood disorders as eczema, pimples, blotches, and eruptions. The first bottle usually shows splendid results.

COME IN—COOL OFF

5,043 ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL AT BADGER "U"

University of Wisconsin Vacation Classes Third Largest in U. S.

Madison (AP)—From a small group of 300 in 1890 to 5,000 in 1926 is the story of the growth of the University of Wisconsin summer school which now ranks as the third largest in the United States.

By a slight margin over last year, the present session which closes in two weeks, takes its place as the largest attended in the history of the university, it was disclosed. The university announced that there are 5,040 in attendance, or 23 more than last year.

The enrollment includes 2,923 women and 2,017 men, the university statisticians disclosed. Practically every state in the union is represented and there are many students from foreign countries in attendance. Most of the foreigners had been attending other universities the past year and came here for the summer session.

The increase in enrollment as charted in the office of Dean S. H. Goodnight, director of the summer session, indicates the effect of the course of events on education. Fifteen years were required for the summer attendance to pass the 1,000 mark. This figure was reached in 1905. In the eleven years ensuing—until 1916—growth was most rapid. In the latter registration passed 3,000. It fell away a third the following year because of war influences, but in 1918 recovered, and increases were continuous until 1922 when the prevailing depression contributed to a slump of a few hundred from the 4,500 mark attained in 1922.

Effects of the economic recovery in 1923 and the following years are visible in the growth which steadily pushed the number of students upward, passing the 5,000 goal last year.

MEDICINE MEN RIDE WITH SHOW

There are mighty few Indians with the 101 Ranch Real Wild West and Great Far East, coming to Appleton, Thursday, Aug. 5, who do not ride in the rousing entries of the redskin numbers. Fact is only squaws, children and a few aged chiefs do not mount the calico ponies, for even the medicine men must boot their way among the thundering horsemen into the arena. And since Miller Brothers imported the famous Russian Cossack circus, with its squadrons of desperate riders, the game has grown stiffer for Indians, cowboys, cowgirls and vaqueros. Yes, it's a hard riding troupe since the Cossacks landed.

FIELD VALUATION NEARLY FINISHED

Only Two Wards in Appleton Remain to Be Reassessed

All general reassessment work in Appleton and the towns of Outagamie, probably will be completed by Aug. 10, or shortly after, according to Pearce Tomkins, field agent of the Wisconsin Tax commission who is in charge of the revaluation project. A check-up will then be made and other special reassessment work done.

Assessors began work Monday morning in the Fifth ward of this city. With exception of that and the Sixth ward general reassessment here has been completed. Work was started Saturday in the town of Oneida, and will begin soon in the town of Osborn. Reassessment of the town of Cicero was completed Monday, while that of the town of Black Creek is nearly finished, and work is now in progress in the town of Seymour.

CHRISTIAN LIVING IS TAUGHT IN BIBLE SCHOOL

Classes in worship, expression and inspiration are being taught at the Daily Vacation Bible school of First Methodist church which opened July 19, in the Sunday school rooms of the church. Approximately 80 children are in attending. Miss Esther Miller, secretary of the church, is in charge of the school.

Lessons in daily living are featured at the school this year. These lessons are thoughtfulness, courtesy, cooperation, happiness and clean thoughts and tongues. It is the aim of the school to bring about a better understanding of Christianity by teaching the Christian way of living.

Hymns are studied with the aid of stories and pictures and the children are to be taught six good hymns during the session.

ACTORS EMPLOY TIME WHILE WAITING CUES

New York (AP)—Most actors waiting in the wings for their cue usually make the most of spare time. It was found that Al Jolson generally is accompanied to the theatre by his secretary, to whom he dictates letters between stage appearances. At other times he transacts much of his business in the dressing room. Here he also had a radio installed which gives him the news of the day.

Minnie Hill and Mr. and Mrs. William Metoxen made an auto trip to Gresham last Sunday.
Mamie Williams has returned to Milwaukee after having visited her parents for a few days.
Allen Williams has been taken to a Green Bay hospital to undergo an operation.
Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Webster returned to Mount Pleasant, Mich., Saturday. They are both employed in the U. S. Indian service.

Life's Sunny Afternoon

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be."

WITH her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

A woman in Nebraska was troubled with headaches for fifteen years. She writes, "I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have felt my health steadily improving. Today, after taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me for it is seven months since I had the last one. I am continuing the Vegetable Compound. I am feeling fine now."
This woman is the mother of six children with a large house to care for. Her name is Mrs. ADOLPH BRATKE, 4316 South 13th St., South Omaha, Nebraska.

HERE ARE TEN TYPES CALLED UNFIT DRIVERS

Chicago—There are ten classes of people who aren't fit to drive cars, according to a list prepared by S. J. Williams, director of the public safety division of the National Safety Council.

These he says, would be excluded from motoring if every state enacted the model motor vehicle operators' act and chauffeurs' act recommended by the recent National Conference on Street and Highway Safety.

- These are:
1. Children under 16.
 2. Persons whose height does not permit easy reach of the controlling pedals.
 3. Persons who have not sufficient strength to operate control levers easily and positively.
 4. Persons under the influence of liquor or drugs.
 5. Epileptics or others subject to fits or fainting spells.
 6. Persons who do not know and understand the traffic laws, ordinary rules of the road, and other points concerned with safe and efficient automobile operation.
 7. Persons with dangerously defective hearing or eyesight.
 8. Cripples or persons minus arms or legs whose defects interfere with their safe control of an automobile.
 9. Persons whose nervous structure is not sound or who do not react quickly.
 10. The mentally incompetent.

WOMEN TURN TO SUN BATHS AND EXERCISE

No Soap On My Face

I clean the pores
By Edna Wallace Hopper

My complexion is the marvel of millions. After my 40 years as a stage star, it is still like a child's. One reason is a liquid cleanser which I found in France. Lucie Lantelme, the famous Parisian beauty, first showed me its results. Great French scientists explained the reason for them.

This cleanser contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, excess oil, dead skin and clogging matter depart with it.

I never knew what a clean skin meant until I found this cleanser. Now beauty experts the world over advise and use this formula, but they charge too much. Most women could not afford it.

Now I am placing this cleanser within reach of all. All toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth. They charge but 75 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today. Let it show you what Facial Youth does for the skin. You will be as delighted as I was to find it. New beauty comes immediately when the face is really cleaned.

Library Gets Simple Book On Engineering For Boys

"Engineering for Boys," a book by Ellison Hawkes, editor of the Mecano magazine, is one of the new books received in the children's room of Appleton library. This book will meet with favor among the young boys whose ambitions are to build things. The book is written in simple language easily understood by the younger boys. "The Fairy Book" by Mrs. Craik and "A Book of Myths" by Jean Lang are especially popular with the younger girls.

Other new books are:
"Old Mother Goose."
"The Little Gray Goose"—Lefevre.
"Jo's Boys"—new edition.
"The Poppy Seed Cakes"—Margery Clark.
"In Fairy Land"—Louey Christolm.

WHEAT IS REPLACING RICE IN PHILIPPINES

Manila P. I.—(P)—Consumption of wheat flour in the Philippines has increased in the last few years. Figures of the bureau of commerce and industry show that although rice is the chief staple the Filipinos are using bread as a supplementary food generally and in some cases as their principal article of diet.

Wheat importations last year were 75,000 tons as compared with 45,000 tons in 1921. Four fifths came from the United States.

"HELEN OF AMERICA" TITLE OF TENNIS STAR

London—(P)—"Helen of America" is the title which British newspapers have given Helen Wills and she is apparently a much better known woman in Great Britain than Helen of Troy.

Every detail of the young American's costume is described by the London press and drawings and photographs of Miss Wills are almost as numerous as those of Miss Lenglen.

WHITTIER POEM ABOUT FRITCHIE MAY BE LEGEND

Fredericktown Can't Agree on Authenticity of Story Concerning Barbara

Frederick, Md.—(P)—Even though controversy may rage over John Greenleaf Whittier's poetic account of her deeds, Barbara Fritchie's personality left an imprint on this historic town as no other ever did.

From the idealism of the massively simple granite monument, which marks her grave in Mount Olivet cemetery, to the plate bolted to the rail of the West Patrick street bridge over the town creek, her name descends triumphantly into the everyday walks of life.

MANY SITES BEAR NAME

It is emblazoned on a gasoline filling station. A chocolate shop also bears it. So does a soft drink and a sausage stand.

Yet doubt of her authenticity, which has split Fredericktown into two well defined camps, upon occasion has made itself felt.

Several years ago, with the construction of a new community hotel, suggestion that it carry her name was met with unveiled hostility. Her legend was branded a fraud. In compromise, the ranks of the illustrious of a later generation were scanned, and Francis Scott Key filled the breach.

Some historians generally have been prone to consider the Barbara Fritchie tale as chiefly a figment of Whittier's imagination, albeit most gently contrived.

JACKSON'S PART UNCERTAIN

History does not confirm that Jackson led his troops through Frederick. He did, however, pay a visit to the Presbyterian manse on west Second-st. He and his party then went down Bentz-st. to Patrick-st. and hence out of town—past Barbara's house.

It is true—but seemingly some distance behind the main body of his troops, Jackson also appears to have been in Frederick four days preceding the flag incident.

MISTOOK SOLDIERS FOR YANKEES

On the morning of Sep. 10 the Confederates broke camp, and moved westward, going out west Patrick-st. past the Fritchie house.

A version of the story, said to have been told by Barbara herself to her niece, Miss Caroline Ebert—none of Barbara's relatives witnessed the flag incident—sets forth that Mrs. Fritchie, near her 96th birthday, took her silk flag from the family bible and went to her window to welcome what she thought were northern soldiers.

An officer rode up and asked that the flag be given him, but she refused, and commented on his gray uniform.

He left, to return with other officers and men, Barbara still standing her ground. One of the men, it is related, called out "shoot her head off!" Turning angrily, an officer thought by some to have been Stonewall Jackson, shouted:

"If you harm a hair of her head, I'll shoot you down like a dog!" Barbara kept her flag.

Jackson, it is conceivable, may have had time to join his troops after his visit to the manse.

Miss Ebert related the story to a cousin, who told a neighbor, Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth. Mrs. Southworth wrote Whittier about it, and the poem was evolved. Relatives disclaim that the old lady snatched her flag from the staff under fire and engaged in Whittier's dialogue with the officer who ordered it shot down.

INDIA TO PRODUCE MOTION PICTURES

Lay Them Right Over the Old Shingles

WHEN your shingle roof must be replaced you need no longer suffer the houseful of dust and dirt, litter, annoyance and expense of ripping off the old shingles. Leave them where they are and lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right on top of them. Then you'll have a roof that is fireproof and everlasting; you'll get the benefit of the splendid roof insulation afforded by the old shingles and, most important of all, you will have re-roofed for the last time.

RE-ROOF FOR THE LAST TIME WITH JOHNS-MANVILLE ASBESTOS SHINGLES

Lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right over the old wooden shingles and you eliminate roofing troubles and expense for all time because Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles will last as long as your building stands. They're all mineral—nothing in them to rot or burn; they will not warp, curl or split; they never need paint; they're easy to lay and they are most attractive in appearance.

Does your roof need replacement? If so, it will pay you to get full information about this method of re-roofing with Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles. See us at once. We can do the work for you quickly, easily and economically.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN say a home when their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are:

NOEL and VERA BOYD, whose marriage is strictly modern.
NELL and HOWARD ORME, the seem to be unhappy together.
DR. DICK MENEFFEE, John's best friend, and his wife, MAR-GARET.

Previous chapters told how:
Fay took JUDITH, the baby,
to Chicago, to visit her parents, and during her absence John "ran around" a good deal. When Fay returned, gossip had retailed and narrated some of his actions and sharp quarrels followed, one of which drove him out "on a case," and caused Fay to threaten to leave him.

A growing, but timid, interest in Nell Orme is brought to a head by Vera Boyd, who takes delight in promoting "affairs."
The two women, who have been friendly rivals, now become enemies. He goes again and again, and the day comes when he takes Nell madly in his arms.
Fay hears about it and leaves him. John closes up the house and takes an apartment, where he comes to see him one night after a quarrel with her husband. Howard comes in on them, and threatens a divorce. That night he commits suicide, and John for a short time is suspected of murder.

Dick Meneffee begins to worry about John, who, he feels, is going to pieces under the strain of being talked about and linked up with the Orme tragedy. So he writes Fay a letter.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
in the next chapter.

CHAPTER LXVI
Nat Graham had reached the point where he was not even speaking to John, and the latter, sitting at his desk and working grimaced at a breaking up of the firm-ship was inevitable.

How long, he asked himself, how long before Nat comes out with it?
All the time a growing feeling of emergency, while the best he did was to sit and mull it over.
Now, he felt sure, Graham was able to buy him out—so why did man wait? What did he have up sleeve?

Day by day he grew more morose.
He was drinking heavily. Meneffee kept in daily touch with him and so solicited that John knew im-ment with him. Why didn't Dick him alone?

He realized that Dick was all he had left—Pat Forbes, staunch and true, he was, provided little more and was almost curt in refusing him many invitations to go to the house for dinner.
The next evening, and they were sitting past with their ne elevated.

"I'm being 'cut now," John laughed himself. "Well—" and he ugged indifferently.
But later on he passed Eleanor son on the street. He was sure had seen him and was rather prised that she should deliberately avoid speaking to him.
That girl, of all people, was his ught.

Dick Meneffee came to see him at office the next day, complaining that John had no business isolating himself from Margaret and John, with a cynical laugh, told him, "I'm damned if I'll consultate you, Dick. People, I pect, are finding it unprofitable to be seen talking to me. I'm not ing to have you be my sponsor." Don't be a fool," Meneffee
wled; nevertheless John was n.

A letter from Fay was so different in the rest of her notes to him he read it and re-read it for an hour. In it was an indication that Fay was feeling some confidence in him, and he knew that yehow word of his latest predicament had reached her.

And there was something about letter that raised a little spark of e in him; the wording of certain ases; a tender note.
And the way she signed it—"as r"—when he had been using accerly" for so long.

But he was clutching at straws told himself, to think that the e had any real significance
he felt sorry for him—yes,
t was it. No use deluding himself with any optimistic thoughts.
nd so that dreary day passed
h Nat Graham was not daring notice him with Nat around.

Occasionally he looked up to catch gaze, the artist, looking at him expression of pity in his eyes, once Briggs found on excuse to sp his hand and wring it hard murmur something about "stick-with you, old fellow."
telephone call from Pat Forbes ght him just as he was leaving office.

"I'm staying—down to dinner," told him. "Want to see you."
By golly, you won't be so indiscinate when I tell you the latest bit ews."
Something more about myself, I pose?"

Don't be sarcastic. I'll tell you en I see you."
And when he met Forbes on the et and heard from him the promise news, he was unable to resist owing his head back and laughing hard, a merciless laugh (that sed passers-by to stare.

Vera Boyd, Forbes told him, had left Noel.
"And John, you'll die when I tell you the reason. It seems he beat her up. Got jealous of a young fellow who writes poetry. Can you tie that—from Noel Boyd?"
"I refuse to believe it," John said.
"I don't blame you. So did I when I first heard it. But Marian got it straight from Vera herself.
You know Vera—she'd come right out and tell everything. Well, it seems Vera didn't mind what Noel did, but she kinda drew the line at being used for a sparring partner.
The modern marriage, John. The super-marriage."

And then John laughed; and when finally he was able to stop and to resume questioning Forbes, he felt somehow that he had been avenged
—why, he could not tell.
Forbes went into details.
"Vera, you know, had taken up lately with this young poet fellow, Gray—Fulton Gray—you know about him. Well, for a time Noel didn't mind, and he used to kid Vera about it. But finally he must have got sick of seeing the fellow around, for he absolutely refused to give him up. Told Noel it wasn't any of his business."

"And it wasn't, either," put in John, "if Noel was intending to live up to the bargain."
"Huh? Oh, absolutely. That's why the thing's so rich. Well, anyway, Vera says Noel didn't like this fellow, and she said that the next time he saw the fellow around he'd throw him out. And then Vera reminded him that she'd never interfered with him; never even asked him any questions. But Noel was bull-headed, and the next time he saw Gray he told him a few things.
And when Vera heard of it she resented it and called Noel a cheap welscher. Now, can you beat that?"

"And then he hit her?"
"Hit her? Say, he sailed into her something scandalous. Vera told Marian. Funny thing, you know, Vera and Marian haven't been any too friendly lately, but Vera came to her first with the whole story.
Noel gave her a black eye and cut her mouth. I'm afraid he beat her up pretty badly."

John was thinking that never in his life had he heard of so many husbands and wives coming to blows.
Revolting. . . . And the memory of Fay's stinging slap burning his own cheek. . . .
"So that," he said slowly, "is what came of Noel's great arrangement.
The marriage that was to be so different and so free from all the quarrels and bickerings of the rest of them."

"Well," and he paused, "it came out just as Paul Davidson predicted.
It was all right for Noel as long as Vera didn't demand her own rights."
"Yeah," said Forbes, "Paul, poor fellow—wonder what became of him?"

"You know, Pat, it gives me a sort of unholy joy to hear that about Noel Boyd. Not that I enjoyed hearing that he had given Vera a licking, but to know that he squealed—after all his fine theories. And so Vera left him?"

"Left him flat. She's thorough."
Forbes shot John a quizzical look "You're not looking right. Did they make it unpleasant for you about this Orme affair?"

"Oh, that," John said wearily, and was silent.

Forbes touched his arm. "I'm sorry as the devil. If there's anything more malicious or evil than gossip—"
"But Pat"—and John smiled as he interrupted—"what have we been doing ourselves this very minute?"

Forbes colored. "But you don't understand I'm not spreading this Vera came to Marion with it, and I thought I'd tell you and you could tell Meneffee. But no farther, John —just the bunch that were at that poker game. I'd tell Paul Davidson if I knew where he was."

AND THURSDAY.

John laughed again. "I'm sorry, Pat, for kidding you. I didn't mean it. Truth is, I haven't had a chance to laugh in a long time."

"All right," and Pat waved his hand, dismissing it. "And now I'm going to ask you a blunt question.
How about you and Fay? Aren't you two going to patch it up?"

And John, staring vacantly down the street, told him that he was afraid Fay had decided he was a bad bargain.

"Oh, come now, John."
Milburn shook his head. "Don't,
Pat."

John walked in his office the next morning to find Nat Graham waiting for him, wearing a look of firm resolution.

"John, I wanted to see you, if you don't mind." And he followed Graham as the other led the way to the little conference room.

He was thinking, "So it's come at last. He's going to get it off his chest." And he was unutterably weary.

Graham folded his arms and re-stated against the end of the table, and John, remaining on his feet, faced him.

"All right, Nat, what is it?"
"Well," and Graham seemed to be bracing himself for what he was about to say, "I want to tell you John, that I'm mighty sorry for you." He paused to let the words sink in.

"Yes."
"I am. Now, I want to ask you a question. Could you raise enough money to buy me out in case I wanted to leave town?"

"Are you thinking of leaving town, Nat?"
Graham's eyes narrowed; the heavy lids fluttered. "I'm serious.

Could you?"
"Why don't you tell me what you're driving at?"

"I will in a minute. Anyway, you know what I'm driving at—and you're not bound as pleasant as I have every right to expect you to be."

"I'm being as pleasant as I know how, Nat, but I don't like mysteries."
"All right, then. Let it go. Now, I don't know anything about your finances, but I don't think you're in a position to buy me out."

"I guess I'm not, Nat," John had decided to make the other show his hand. And he was not sure, but he thought that Nat, who was watching him keenly, seemed to take some satisfaction in the admission.

"I'm sorry as the devil, John," Graham was saying. "I know that talk is just talk and all that; but you've had a good deal of trouble. I warned you some time ago that you would have."

"Never mind that, Nat."
"Oh, all right then. But it's hopeless, you and I trying to stick it out together. We weren't meant to get along. I guess—our temperaments clash, I suppose."

"Something like that," admitted
John with a smile.

"Yes. Now then," and Graham's eyelids fluttered again, "do you want to sell out to me? I'll give you fifteen thousand dollars the minute you say the word."

In Tune With the Times

A vivid idea of the spectacular change of demand which the petroleum industry has had to meet during the last thirty years, may be gained from a consideration of the phenomenal development of the automobile.

In 1895 there were only 300 automobiles in the United States. In 1925 there were 21,000,000.

In other words, gasoline for 300 cars was required in 1895,
while gasoline for 21,000,000 cars was required in 1925.
It was the responsibility of the petroleum industry to make the available crude yield these requirements.

Success in supplying this spectacular growth in demand for gasoline necessitated an adaptability which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has shown to an extraordinary degree.

It was the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which discovered and developed processes to double the yield of gasoline from every barrel of crude.

These discoveries, passed on to competitors, were successful in making a diminishing supply of crude per car, meet an increasing demand for gasoline.

Tremendous toil, endless experimentation, tireless research
—on the part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
organization—made this condition possible.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has worked with its original purpose uppermost—that of meeting the needs of the people of the Middle West with the best petroleum products that science and money and skill can produce.

This organization has worked with the idea that its own profit must be a secondary and inevitable result of accomplishment.

Through the years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
has endeavored to develop a quick perception of the needs
of the hour—to keep in tune with the times.

It has been alert to keep in step with shifting and changing conditions. It has tried always to be keenly aware of new requirements, and it has thrown all its resources of mind
and money into the task of meeting them.

This conscious effort on the part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to anticipate and satisfy the changing needs of the people has been backed by the hearty cooperation of its 29,000 employees, without which all its effort must have failed.

For every element in the success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) must be traced ultimately to its great working force—the employees. The measure of their loyalty is the measure of its greatness.

In Tune With the Times

A vivid idea of the spectacular change of demand which
the petroleum industry has had to meet during the last thirty years, may be gained from a consideration of the phenomenal development of the automobile.

In 1895 there were only 300 automobiles in the United States. In 1925 there were 21,000,000.

In other words, gasoline for 300 cars was required in 1895,
while gasoline for 21,000,000 cars was required in 1925.
It was the responsibility of the petroleum industry to
make the available crude yield these requirements.

Success in supplying this spectacular growth in demand for gasoline necessitated an adaptability which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has shown to an extraordinary degree.

It was the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which discovered and developed processes to double the yield of gasoline from every barrel of crude.

These discoveries, passed on to competitors, were successful in making a diminishing supply of crude per car, meet
an increasing demand for gasoline.

Tremendous toil, endless experimentation, tireless research
—on the part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
organization—made this condition possible.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has worked
with its original purpose uppermost—that of meeting the needs of the people of the Middle West with the best petroleum products that science and money and skill can produce.

This organization has worked with the idea that its own profit must be a secondary and inevitable result of accomplishment.

Through the years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
has endeavored to develop a quick perception of the needs
of the hour—to keep in tune with the times.

It has been alert to keep in step with shifting and changing conditions. It has tried always to be keenly aware of new requirements, and it has thrown all its resources of mind
and money into the task of meeting them.

This conscious effort on the part of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to anticipate and satisfy the changing needs of the people has been backed by the hearty cooperation of its 29,000 employees, without which all its effort must have failed.

For every element in the success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) must be traced ultimately to its great working force—the employees. The measure of their loyalty is the measure of its greatness.

Her Own Way

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

ENEMY AND FRIEND

"Ah, good evening, Mr. Horton," she smiled, as she took the hat out of my hand and with seeming carelessness turned it over, dropping the bill on the floor.

"You would have lost your supper money, Mr. Horton, if I had not been here," she said, "do you think a hat is a good place to keep it anyway?" and she handed him back the twenty-dollar bill.

The man bit his lip in anger and quickly turned away.

"I'll be reported for that all right," all right," said Mamie.

"Oh, I'm so sorry, but I didn't know what to do about it. You see, I never knew a man would hand you money unobviously thinking you would accept and I never knew a man would make love to you the moment he saw you thinking you would consider it a compliment."

"Of course you didn't, child. I gather from what Horton said that Sterns is at the bottom of this. You see Horton and Sterns are pals and nothing in the way of an attractive girl gets by them. Tell me all about it when you get time and I'll be with you forty ways."

I felt the tears come into my eyes. "I haven't a place to stay tonight. I am afraid to go back to the hotel," I began.

"So, that's what they're up to, is it?" Mamie whispered almost to herself. "Of course, Sterns got it out of you. But we'll worry them a little. You'll come right home with me. My little sister is out of town and you can have her bed."

Before the evening was over I was ready to drop with fatigue and the music became only a bunch of nerve-racking sounds. I began to understand what Mamie meant by "corns." Although I had none, my feet became lumps of leaden pain. In the pocket of the apron, I had given there was a single coin. I went over to Mamie and whispered, "Do you really want me to come home with you tonight?" I think I have enough tips to pay for a room in a cheap hotel."

I was so tired I felt as though I couldn't stand the presence of strangers around me—even so kindly a one as Mamie.

"My dear, save your money. You'll need it. You'll have to find a place to live tomorrow and have your trunk brought from the hotel. They'll charge for the room whether you use it or not."

"Oh, I can't go back there," I said hurriedly, "for some of these awful men would find me, I'm sure." (Copyright, 1920, NEA Service, Inc.)

MUSICIAN TAKES UP WINDOW CLEANING

London—(P)—Window-cleaning, singing and song writing are the three professions of Lady Dean Paul. Ordinarily she keeps busy singing and composing songs, but conditions are so bad in the musical world at the moment that Lady Dean has accepted employment with a window-cleaning firm in which her friend, the Marchioness of Garishbrook, is interested. Lady Dean does not actually clean windows, but solicits jobs for the firm.

"I canvass for orders," said Lady Dean. "It is hard work, but it has sufficient humor in it to make it tolerable."

MOVIES FAVOR WOMAN FOR STILL PICTURES

Paris—(P)—Undiluted blue blood was essential before a portrait could figure in an exhibition which President Doumergue has just opened.

The seventy photographs of society women, grandmothers, mothers and daughters on view represent an effort to establish the true type of the aristocratic French woman. In fact, "Of course, Sterns got it out of you. But we'll worry them a little. You'll come right home with me. My little sister is out of town and you can have her bed."

Learn To Swim

The man or woman, boy or girl, who can swim can use that knowledge in winter or summer.

Life saving is not a reasonable pursuit—a person is just as likely to drown in December while skating as in July while boating.

There is but one of the reasons why you should learn to swim, or increase your ability if you already know how. You can never tell when this knowledge will be essential.

The Washington Bureau of this paper offers for free distribution a new booklet on swimming and life saving. It was prepared by the American National Red Cross and contains instructions for beginners and advanced students, together with a number of swimming and life saving tests.

Send for your copy of the helpful booklet today. Enclose two cents in stamps to cover return postage.

KIMBERLY WINS 1ST GAME IN JUNIOR LOOP

Kimberly—The K. C. Juniors won their first game in the newly-organized Junior Fox River Valley baseball league, when they defeated Neenah in a tight game Tuesday afternoon at the Kimberly ball park. 5-4. Kimberly started the scoring in the first inning sending three men across the plate, and Neenah followed up in the second by tying the score. Neither side scored in the third inning, but in the fourth, Neenah took the lead by a one run margin which was tied again by Kimberly in the fifth. Kimberly held Neenah scoreless until the end of the game, and came across with the winning run in the seventh. Pocan, besides pitching a good game for Kimberly, got two hits and brought in three runs. Gossens and Bourassa scored the other two runs for Kimberly. Golmeier, Clough, Garrow and Zarn each scored a run for Neenah.

Friday, Kimberly will travel to Little Chute to play its second game in the loop with the Little Chute team. Neenah—0 3 0 1 0 0 0—4.
Kimberly—3 0 0 1 0 1 0—5.
Batteries: Kimberly—Pocan and Le May.
Neenah—Schneller and Asmus.

tilt up in the sixth with six tallies. The Appleton crew was unable to see the offerings of Dohr, Kimberly hurler, getting only two safe blows while Kimberly hit Kenneth, local hurler, for 12. Behling scored three times for Kimberly and Rockner twice for Appleton.

Appleton—0 1 0 0 1 0 0—3.
Kimberly—0 2 1 0 1 6 12—43.
Batteries: Appleton, Kenneth and Rockner; Kimberly, Dohr and Williams.

POST-CRESCENT GIVES GOLF PRIZE TO CADDY

When caddies of the Butte des Morts Country club meet on the links Monday afternoon in their weekly golf tournament, the boys will have something worthwhile to work for instead of just being crowned winners. For the Appleton Post-Crescent will donate a fine prize to the lad who turns in the low net score for the meet. The prize will be any iron club which the lad may choose from those sold at the clubhouse. This prize is given to encourage the lad to keep up on with the game and develop himself as a player.

SUNDAY GAMES

Combined Locks 21, Oneda 4.
De Pere 3, Little Chute 2.
Freedom 7, Wrightstown 4 (protest)

Freedom took an easy hold on first place in the Intercounty ball loop Sunday when it defeated Wrightstown on the Wrightstown field by a score of 7-4, but the game was finished under protest so that it may be played over in which case the Freedom lead will be wiped out until after it is played off. De Pere pulled up to within a few points of the second-place crew by a 11-inning win over Little Chute, taken by taking advantage of a "break" in the final frame. The De Pere boys moved all the way to third from fifth, lowering the losing Chutes from third to fourth and the losing Oneda crew from fourth to fifth. The final score of the tilt, played at Little Chute, was 3-2.

The rejuvenated Combined Locks Specials, playing their third game with their "valley league lineup" won their third straight to pull out of the cellar-to-a fifth place tie with the former top-notch Oneda Indians. They beat the Indians at Oneda by a score of 21-4. The other two wins found the Locksmen on the long end of 24 and 11 runs. At the pace they are going, which they should keep up with the present lineup including Marty and Ted Lamers, Red Cavil, Phillips, formerly with Kimberly in the valley loop, they should cop the loop title, unless Freedom loses only to them. They should beat any squad in the loop by 10 scores.

In the victory, the Locksmen hit three Indian hurlers for 16 hits and added seven walks, only two men fanning. The Locksmen also played airtight ball while the home crew booted the pill all over the field. Oneda got seven hits and received one walk, though only three men fanned. Batteries were Stegeman and Cavil for the winners and Swamp, Doxteter, Van Rixel, and Skenderore for the losers.

DePere beat Little Chute in the eleventh when a DePere man on third stole home while the Little Chute first sacker was arguing with the umpire over a decision at the initial cushion. Larionis and B. Dick formed the winning battery while Vandersteen and Evers performed for the Chutes.

A Wrightstown home boys had the bases loaded in the ninth and a pinchhitter was sent in. The Freedom pitcher threw one ball and the umpire called him out, ending the game. Wrightstown claimed the batter was not out according to the rule on announcing players and a protest was entered. Batteries were Harm Tornow and Schommer for Freedom and Klister and Dussow for the home team.

FOURTH WARD SQUAD WANTS MORE GAMES

The Fourth Ward Pirates, junior baseball team, would like to schedule games with teams in Appleton and vicinity whose players do not exceed 18 years of age. Games may be obtained by communicating with Edward Verbrick, whose telephone number is 1556. The Pirates defeated the Lower Fourth Tigers by a 11-2 count last Sunday. Batteries were: Pirates, Joseph Brautigan and Clement DeYoung; Tigers, Clarence Mephke and Lawrence Michler.

"MUSH" HIGGINS
Veteran right-hander of the Charlotte club, South Atlantic League, who leaped into the spotlight recently by hurling a no-hit no-run game against Augusta. But one batter reached first, getting there on a pass. The "no-hitter" was the first pitched in the Sally loop in two years.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

When the final results of the N. E. W. G. A. tourney staged here last week are considered, golf fans and players in this part of the state are ready to tip their hats to Frank Walsh, pro of the Butte des Morts club. For the Butte des Morts golfers came through with wins in practically every important individual title. While a Sheboygan lad, who by the way, will make the older men hush in the main flight when he reaches 18, took the junior title, not many Butte des Morts juniors have had enough experience to make threats on this crown. The only flight title lost was the class D, where a Butte des Morts man lost in the finals to D. C. Church of Fox Lake. Outside of Dickinson and Clineinst, the other winners in the flights and the consolation winners all were practically new to the game when the Butte des Morts club was organized two years ago. Under Walsh's skillful tutoring and work, they were able to go out and take title after title in their tourney efforts in a meet in which representatives of some of Wisconsin's strongest clubs took part. All give Frank credit for their fine work and he well deserves it.

Chief Williams, Green Bay's veteran Indian outfielder bumped into some tough luck. Sunday morning, when his home at Oneda burned to the ground. The flames just about wiped out the Williams' holdings but despite the loss, he carried on in the Fond du Lac game as if nothing had happened.

If a couple of the other clubs can take a fall out of Oshkosh, the Valley league chase will develop into a blanket finish instead of a race of the run-away variety. Oshkosh has to take the road for a few games this month and the league leaders may find the going a whole lot harder.

The Wisconsin Reformatory team swatted their way to season's record when they buried the Neenah Knitters by a thirty plus count. The inmates had their batting togs on and the offerings of four of the Knitters' pitchers were rapped to every corner of the reformatory's baseball field.

Neenah's Valley leaguers were forced to take another licking in the

ANCIENT RIVALS IN TWO BATTLES IN VALLEY LOOP

Appleton Plays 2 Frames of Unfinished Tilt and Second Game at Kimberly

A long-standing feud of great depths will break out again Sunday afternoon in the river valley when the Appleton ball club of the valley loop invades Kimberly for two games with the Cookemans. Rather than two game, it will be a game and two innings, unless the "two-inning" tilt runs overtime, a likely occurrence. A few weeks back, Memorial day to be exact, the Batzmenn met the villagers at Kimberly and the tilt was called a tie at the end of the seventh on account of rain, which had been falling for three frames. In order to balance the books, league moguls have decreed that the two squads "fight to a finish" with the remainder of the tilt, as a sort of householder with the regular scheduled game.

Kimberly, Appleton's ancient rival, has failed to beat the local crew this year, tying the opener and falling before the slants of young Refke in the game played here. There is nothing more pleasing to a K-C fan than a win over Appleton and with the grandstand on the old home grounds packed to the rafters with fans "just aching" to see their squad humble the Batzmenn and give them a chance to yell loud and long, the team will make a hardy attempt to turn the trick. Another coincidence is the fact that every time the squads have met this year it meant a change of position for one caused by the other's work. Either they have been tied in the loop standings as at present, or one less than a game ahead of the other. Of course, this means that two games are more important as the loser will drop out for a time.

The fact that two games are to be decided also means a lot, as the winner may be able to pull out of reach of the loser this time by taking both. Another important feature provided by the double bill is the fact that the winner has a good chance for second place as the Green Bay squad is but a little over a game ahead, where two wins will displace it easily in case of a loss. Neenah, plays at the Bay, so that the Sox should retain their standing but stranger things have happened in baseball. If Nixon is in form the Sox will have their hands full as they failed to display very much against Fondy last Sunday, with La Cosse, star hurler, bothered by an arm injury.

Kimberly, considered weak by many critics since four stars left the team, kind of upset that dope Sunday when it trounced Neenah badly. Len Smith, now that his hand is cured, is equal to any boxman of the loop and will make the sledding hard for Appleton. Beside this Courtney, Appleton boy, sold to Kimberly recently is playing a fine game at second, scooping up hard hit balls and playing the bat game with a vigor that is making the Kimberly fans partly forget Marty Lamers. Manager Baetz will present

Valley pennant hunt. This time out it was Kimberly that pushed them deeper in the cellar. Larsen's crew, despite their numerous defeats, are proving good stickers and there isn't a more peppery squad in the circuit.

JOAN CLARK WINS PLACE IN STATE

Riverview Representative Qualifies by Shooting 100
in Golf Tourney

So far the women's state amateur golf tournament at the Tripoli Country club has been mostly a Dorothy Page affair. The young Madison star shot a par 32 to lead the qualifying field by seven strokes Miss Frances Hadfield of Blue Mound, Miss George Cleophas of Beloit and Miss Jane Cannon of Blue Mound, being tied in the second group at 39. This followed her 84 of Monday.

Players from Milwaukee clubs however, took nine of the sixteen places in the first flight, the others being divided by four state clubs. Maple Bluff qualifying Miss Page and Mrs. E. J. B. Schubring, who is playing in her first tournament, while Mrs. Jack Blakeslee of Kenosha and Miss Joan Clark of Appleton got in with Mrs. S. Sherman of Racine. Mrs. Sherman tied at 102 for sixteenth place, won the playoff from Mrs. G. L. Hogue of Tripoli, and Miss Nancy Osborne of Racine.

Miss Clark shot a score of 48-52-100 to make the grade. Mrs. James Bergstrom, Appleton, failed to place in the qualifying round when she shot a 117 score.

Miss Clark is paired with Mrs. C. C. Russell of Milwaukee in the first round of the title flight on Wednesday.

Hartford—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, beat Lew Faluso, Salt Lake City (ten).

Indianapolis Ind.—Roy Wallace, Indianapolis, outpointed Tommy Burns, Detroit, (ten).

the same strong lineup which beat the loop-leading Oshkosh crew and broke its win streak last week. Three hurlers, Crowe, Raffke and Sternagle, all are ready to go. Refke beat Kimberly before, Sternagle has allowed five and two hits in two games, one against Oshkosh, and Crowe's work has made him feared throughout the loop.

FOUND BABE

REV. BROTHER GILBERT

Here's the "Discoverer of Babe Ruth," famous fence-buster of the Yankees. Rev. Gilbert, who is now a teacher at St. John's Preparatory school, Danvers, Mass., first noted the Bamb's unusual playing ability while George Herman was a student at St. Mary's Industrial school, Baltimore, where he spent his childhood as an orphan. Rev. Gilbert was connected with the same institution at the time.

SEVEN RUNS IN FRAME BUT WALTER WINS OUT

Washington—It's rather unusual for a big league pitcher to be nipped for seven runs in one inning without being yanked out of the box. And it's perhaps even more out of the ordinary to win the tilt after having taken such a lacing.

That's just what Walter Johnson, dean of major league gunners, experienced in a game against Detroit the other day. After getting off to a seven-run lead in the first two frames, things looked comparatively soft and rosy for Sir Walter.

In the fourth, however, Cobb's boys rocked Johnson for seven tallies, knotting the score. "Barney" weathered the gale, though, finally winning, 10-7.

ROGERS HORNSBY MUST HUSTLE TO WIN SLUG TITLE

Rajah of Rap Is Far Behind in Effort to Take 7th Straight
Bat Crown

St. Louis—Will Rogers Hornsby, the Rajah of Rap, make it seven straight batting championships this season?

That's what the boys around the corner are discussing as the final half of the champion gets under way. The answer runneth both ways; some believe the King of Clubs will put on a desperate spurt that will carry him to the heights again while others think he has too much ground to make up in the few weeks remaining to put the feat over.

How has Hornsby's work for the first and second halves of other years compared?

Well, in 1924 Rog hit .395 over the initial 77 frays, and then went on to bat .455 the last half, giving him the modern day record of .424.

Last year in the first half Hornsby turned in a mark of .414, winding up with a .403. It showed a falling off of 11 points in the last two and a half months of play.

Hence one season he went on a veritable rampage down the stretch while in the other he faltered a bit. All of which makes his case harder to dope.

This season Hornsby's average through the first half was but .344, a decline of 70 points compared with a year ago. More than that the mid-way mark found Rogers close to 50 points behind the leaders.

Whether the Cloutier of the Cardinals can overcome such a big advantage remains to be seen. If he does he'll have to put on a spurt similar to the one he staged two years ago.

"FOUND!" You'll Say Because "It's Toasted"

LUCKY STRIKES are made from the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly blended.

Besides this supreme quality of leaf tobacco as compared with all other cigarettes—"IT'S TOASTED".

Just what does this mean—this phrase, "IT'S TOASTED"? The tobacco is oven toasted at very high heats for 45 minutes; then chilled with the moisture completely restored. The toasting brings out the hidden flavors of the superbly fine tobacco. The chilling seals in these flavors; seals in, too, the moisture that has been restored. It all acts like a cold plunge on the pores of the body.

That's why LUCKIES taste so good. Why LUCKIES are always fresh when they come to you. Why millions prefer this uniquely fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED That's Why Luckies Taste so Good

HELPFUL HINTS GOLFING STARS

GENE SARAZEN—VOLUNTARY SLICE
It is one thing to be able to slice a golf shot and another to control the slice. The average beginner, failing to keep the elbows close to the body, is prone to cut across the ball, which invariably produces a slice.
That isn't the kind of a sliced shot I was after. What I set out to develop and what I needed was the kind of slice that had a slight fade-away to the right.
I decided to change the position of the ball instead of the position of my feet.
I moved the ball to and fro until I had located the right spot, almost opposite the heel of my left foot. In other words, I found that by playing the ball more off the left foot than the right, and by cutting across the ball slightly, I got the results I desired. I play most of my shots with the ball almost opposite the center of my stance.
Finding I could slice a ball playing in the manner described above, I practiced and practiced on the shot until I had it perfected. One wrong shot can ruin you in a tight match.

PICK CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES FOR CONFERENCE

Methodists Select Workers to Arrange for Meeting Here in September

C. O. Davis has been elected general chairman of committees in charge of arrangements for the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of Methodist Episcopal churches in Appleton, Sept. 8 to 13. F. W. Trezise was elected vice chairman.

Prof. G. C. Cast was appointed chairman of the housing and entertainment committee and Mrs. A. B. Fisher will have charge of meals for conference week. Frank Wright is chairman of the committee of the state of the house; Dr. J. A. Holmes is head of the program committee and Mr. Trezise is to have charge of publicity.

Arrangements for a special auto sight-seeing tour will be made by Miss Ora Zuehlke. W. F. McGowan is head of the committee room assignment committee and the ushering committee is headed by Elmer Root. Mrs. Judson Rosebush is to have charge of the decorations and Frank Sager is head of the parking arrangement committee. F. E. Saecker is chairman of the finance committee. Bishop W. O. Shepherd of Portland Ore., is to preside at the conference. More than 300 ministers and laymen are expected to attend.

Some of the features of the convention will be the celebration of his fiftieth year in the ministry by Dr. A. J. Bergman of Milwaukee who will give an address at the meeting; and a special memorial service for Methodist ministers who are buried in Riverside cemetery. A pilgrimage will be made to the cemetery and special services will be conducted and markers will be placed at each grave. About 20 former preachers are buried here. W. F. Saecker is the chairman of the committee in charge.

An opening banquet will be held Tuesday evening and Mrs. J. A. Holmes is chairman of the committee in charge.

A musicale will be held at First Methodist church on Friday evening, Sept. 10. Carl McKee is chairman of the committee. The Methodist vestal choir, Miss Verna Lean, Milwaukee, and Carl McKee, soloists, will take part in the musicale.

Special invitations will be issued to wives of ministers in the conference to attend the meeting. Mrs. Richard Evans is president of the Conference Preacher's Wives association. A special program is being arranged for their entertainment.

A banquet for alumni of Garrett Biblical school of Chicago is another feature of the conference. The Lutheran club will hold an annual luncheon. Alumni of Lawrence college will have a banquet. A meeting of Super Anutes will be held during the conference. Members of the Methodist ministry, who have retired from actual service are members of this organization.

Invitations have been issued to the Ladies Aid societies, Woman's Foreign Missionary societies and Wo-

CHEMISTS STUDY RUBBER FUTURE

Experts Believe Rubber Can Be Saved by Reclaiming Processes

New York—A symposium of the work and ideas of the world's greatest rubber engineers is expected to bring out the latest developments in the production of this important product. The symposium is part of the program planned for the golden jubilee of the American Chemical Society at Philadelphia, September 6 to 11.

Leading rubber engineers and executives of the industry will reveal raw rubber developments and the latest discoveries in research in this field.

man's Home Missionary societies of the state to send delegates to the convention. Each organization is to hold special meetings and programs.

Several bishops and other speakers of national note will attend the conference and address the delegates. Pastors of the conference will be appointed to their offices for the next year.

The conference was held in Milwaukee last year.

Seattle Cop Prefers Men Behind Car Wheels

This is the fifth of a series of nine articles on men and women as automobile drivers. Police of nine cities were interviewed and voted, 5 to 4, for women as better drivers.

Seattle — "Give me a man driver every time." That's the consensus of Seattle traffic coppers, handling heavy crowds on downtown streets. John De Boer, who handles one of the heaviest corners and in addition is known as "Seattle's most popular cop," agrees with the general opinion, but says a lot depends on the cop. He finds a smile wins the women as with the men.

BETTER JUDGMENT
But here's what the average trafficker says:

"Men have better judgment than women and are better law-compliers. A woman generally has her attention centered on herself; a man looks out for the rest of the traffic, too."

"Men are afraid of a cop; women aren't. Bawl out a man and he blushes and takes it meekly. Nine times out of ten, Reprimand a woman and she'll fight every time. Can't reason with her. Women have no scruples, either, about engaging in physical combat with a cop; several Seattle cops have scratched faces to prove it."

MEN DON'T SLAP
"But will a man driver slap a cop? Not on your life."

"Women lose their heads more easily than a man; they will make a wreck out of a traffic jam that a man's judgment would clear up."

"Give us the men drivers every time."

TAX AND LICENSE BLANKS CALLED 1ST CLASS MAIL

First-class postage rates apply to tax blanks, license forms filled out in handwriting or typewriting and to examination papers, legal briefs, etc., wholly or partly in handwriting or when sealed against inspection, according to a notice received at the postoffice here from the third assistant postmaster general.

"It has come to attention that matter of this character is frequently accepted for mailing at the parcel-post rates of postage," the notice states. "If the matter is wholly or partly in handwriting or typewriting or carbon copies thereof, or it is sealed against inspection, it is subject to postage at the first-class rate and must not be accepted as parcel-post mail, either ordinary or insured."

BEGIN FISH RESCUE FROM MISSISSIPPI RIVER BOTTOM

La Crosse—(P)—The rescue of fish from the Mississippi river bottoms has been launched by the state conservation commission with four crews at work.

The fish are taken from small ponds of water left by the receding of high waters and are placed in streams of the state. The work is being carried on at Ferryville, Lynxville, De Soto and La Crosse.

The work this season is limited. Elmer S. Hall, state conservation commissioner, said, due to the river falling to reach the former flood stage. The fish mostly remained in the river to spawn and the number of fish in the small ponds and sloughs is reported small.

$800 At Dance
Approximately 800 dancers attended the dance at Valley Queen hall, Twelve Corners, Sunday evening. The Meltz orchestra of Seattle, Wash. furnished the music. The last state engagement of the orchestra will be at the Valley Queen Sunday evening. It will leave for the west Monday.
